WILL FORCE ACTION ON SHIP SUBSIDY QUESTION

House Committee Adopts Administration Bill by Vote of Ten to Seven.

HEARING IS CUT SHORT

Democrats Taken by Surprise; They Claim Measure Was "Railroaded."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—After a short but torrid open hearing, followed by an executive session of an hour, filled with dissension, the House committee on merchant marine and fisheries today voted 10 to 7 to report favorably the administration ship subsidy bill as introduced by Representative Humphrey of Washington.

Ten Republicans voted in favor of the bill and five Democrats and two Republicans voted against it. The two "bolting" Republicans were Wilson of Illinois and Sweet of Maine. Representative Tobson of Alabama, reported to be for the bill, and Maynard of Virginia against it, both Democrats, were absent.

The Democratic members of the committee were greatly wrought up over what they characterized the "railroading" of the measure without consideration and opportunity to amend it and tonight they held a meeting in the room of Minority Leader Clark to map out the future course against the bill. It is expected the measure will meet with stubborn opposition when it reaches the House and that one of the hottest fights of the session will be precipitated.

Will Make Minority Report.

Representative Spight of Mississippi, ranking Democratic member of the committee, will file a minority report against the bill. Mr. Spight said Chairman Green of the committee had assured him only yesterday that no vote would be taken today and that the minority and those opposed to ship subsidy would be given ample opportunity to be heard before a final vote was taken. Mr. Green informed Mr. Spight after today's meeting that he did not make any promise for Mr. Humphrey and could not prevent the latter's bringing his bill to a vote.

Mr. Humphrey said that ample consideration had been given to the bill and if it were delayed longer a measure to take its place would be reported in the Senate. In reply to this, the Democrats said that the bill had been given no consideration whatever by anybody and that it had not even been read over in committee.

Today's hearing was the first given on the subject and opposition to the bill pointed out that those heard today were in favor of ship subsidy but were opposed to parts of the Humphrey bill.

Feeling Is Tense.

The Democrats desired to offer several amendments and Representative Sulzer, Clark of Florida and Kustermann had notified the committee that they desired hearings on their own ship subsidy bills. The action today was a surprise to them as well as to the minority of the committee.

CHIVALRY IS DEFENSE OF NAVAL OFFICERS

Trial of Paymaster Auld Is Finished and That of Dr. Bobbett Begun.

BOSTON, Feb. 3. Chivalry and the defense offered by counsel for Paymaster George P. Auld in his argument before the naval courtmartial today when he asked for the discharge of the young officer, accused in connection with an alteration with Dr. E. S. Cowles of Boston over Miss Dorothy Heder of Evanston, Ill.

Major F. A. Catlin, the judge advocate, asked for a finding of guilty on two of the three counts; first, for conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman, and second, for assault on Dr. Cowles, a civilian. The third count, that of falsehood, was eliminated.

The court took the matter into secret session and only the navy department at Washington can publish its findings.

Dr. A. S. Robbett, who was implied with Paymaster Auld in the original charges, will be tried on Monday.

Major Catlin spoke first, claiming that it had been clearly shown that Mr. Auld had overstepped the bounds and that he had assumed authority which he did not have.

Major Leonard, a one-armed hero of the Siege of Pekin, spoke for the defense. He dwelt upon the fact that Miss Heder, around whom the contest seems to have centered, was the daughter of a dead naval officer and entitled to the protection of her father's comrades. He claimed that Dr. Cowles should not have kept her picture or tried to make an appointment with her and that it was a chivalrous act on the part of any naval officer to protect her.

"CAUSE UNKNOWN" VERDICT AT PRIMERO

INQUEST HELD OVER MINERS KILLED BY EXPLOSION.

Fifty-one Bodies Recovered—Thirty-four Buried Yesterday at Trinidad.

PRIMERO, Colo., Feb. 3.—"Cause unknown."

That was the verdict reached this afternoon by the coroner's jury which had investigated the explosion in the mine of the Colorado Iron and Fuel company Monday afternoon that caused the death of 75 men.

Nine witnesses were examined, including General Manager E. H. Weitzel, State Mine Inspector John D. Jones, Leonardo Virgin, the only men taken out alive, fire bosses, electricians and others.

State Mine Inspector Jones was the principal witness.

He said he was not entirely able to tell what caused the explosion but was of the opinion that dust was largely responsible. He said he considered the law had been more than complied with. He said that he had never known of a piece of carelessness on the part of a Primero miner. From his statement it would seem that the explosion centered in entry A 9.

The coroner asked him if it would have been possible for a miner to cause an explosion with an open light and he said he did not believe it would be more than a local explosion. At this juncture the coroner stated that he had asked the question because he had found on the body of one of the miners cigarette paper and tobacco but no matches.

The testimony of Leonardo Virgin, the sole survivor, tended to show that but for the panic which seized the miners many would have escaped.

51 Bodies Recovered.

No more bodies have been taken out since early this forenoon. One body was found this morning, making a total of fifty-one recovered. It is believed twenty-four bodies are still lying under tons of coal and rock and some of these may never be recovered.

Bodies of 18 victims were taken to Trinidad tonight and will be buried there tomorrow morning. Half of this number had not been identified tonight.

Rescuers today penetrated over a mile into the mine exploring portions of entry A 12. A number of bodies are believed to be in entries 13 and 14 which are still filled with after damp.

Funerals at Trinidad.

TRINIDAD, Colo., Feb. 3.—Thirty-four funerals were held in this city today. The gloom of the disaster in the neighboring camp of Primero settled over this city as the bells of the Holy Trinity church tolled from early morning until late this evening. The remains of 25 Austrian, Hungarian, Crotian and Italian victims were borne from the morgue to the church and thence to the Catholic cemetery in heavy drays. The procession was headed by a band playing a funeral march, and bareheaded miners and women, many of the latter carrying babies, trudged through the snowy streets at the side of the caskets.

The remains of nine Korean victims were buried this afternoon without religious ceremony.

Tomorrow will see a repetition of the scenes of today, there being 16 bodies in the morgue here tonight, a number of which are unidentified.

Stores of the city were closed today during the services. Many were draped in black and flags were at half mast.

75 Dead at Las Esparragas.

LAREDO, Texas, Feb. 3.—Seventy-five persons lost their lives as a result of the mine explosions at Las Esparranzas yesterday. There may be one or two deaths among those now in the hospital.

Local authorities have made a thorough investigation and have reported to the governor of the state. The inquiry is said to have demonstrated that the explosion was caused by the ignition of gas from a spark from a miner's cigarette.

Will Unwater Cherry Mine.

CHERRY, Ill., Feb. 3.—While the work of clearing the passageway between the shaft and the escape pit proceeded in the St. Paul mine, sanitary methods of removing the 167 bodies from the underground tunnels and for disposing of the putrid water, in the lower levels, were agreed on tonight by state and village health officers.

It was decided to pump the seepage from the five hundred foot level into a tank in the 350 foot level. This tank will be supplied with strong disinfectants so that the water will be harmless before it is forced to the surface, where it will run through a tile sewer under Cherry to the creek.

Judging by the body found near the air shaft, it is thought that most of the corpses in the second level are partly mummified. The corpse was not identified.

General Manager Taylor of the St. Paul Mine company today requested Sheriff Shoglund of Bureau county to send deputies to Cherry to prevent any possible outbreak.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 3.—A delayed telegram to Mexico City announces that Jose Santos Zelaya, who went to Vera Cruz Sunday night, sailed Tuesday morning for Belgium. His ticket read to Vigo, Spain, and he is aboard the German steamer Alsavia.

GERMANY AND UNITED STATES REACH AN AGREEMENT

Concessions Made by Both Countries and Threatened Tariff War Averted.

MEAT ISSUE ELIMINATED

Minimum Rates Exchanged and American Products Given a Fair Chance.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Concessions by both the United States and Germany have averted a threatened tariff war. Negotiations have been concluded between the countries which settle the question of minimum and maximum rates with the exception of the cattle and dressed meat issue. This was eliminated from the present negotiations and will be taken up later in separate diplomatic representations.

Under the agreement made today American minimum rates will be exchanged for the entire minimum list of Germany. The result is considered advantageous to both countries.

The state department today issued a statement, in part as follows:

"By the understanding arrived at there will be no tariff war and no interruption of the enormous commerce passing between the two countries. The magnitude of this business appears from the statement of the calendar year just closed. The direct interchange of commodities between Germany and the United States exceeded $400,000,000 and allowances being made for the German importations through other countries, the actual volume is probably in excess of $500,000,000.

Equality Is Assured.

"The products of the United States will be assured the fullest opportunity to participate in the constantly growing business of the German empire. This will be done on a complete equality with the competing products of other countries.

"By the terms of the commercial agreement which has been in force since 1907, Germany extended to the United States her conventional or lowest rates on about 100 out of nearly 1,000 tariff numbers. Those 100 numbers covered a large percentage, in value, of the actual imports from the United States but nevertheless left many important commodities of American manufacture at a disadvantage in competition with similar products from other countries.

This agreement expires February 7. It was the earnest desire of the German government to reach a solution of the questions at issue so that the necessary legislation might be enacted to prevent any disturbance of existing commercial relations. The President fully reciprocated this sentiment.

"In consequence of the friendly disposition of both governments in agreement has been reached under which it will be possible for the German government, with the co-operation of the imperial parliament, to avoid any interruption of trade and at the same time to extend to the United States not only the rates at present enjoyed, but the entire remaining schedules of minimum rates now accorded other countries.

Lowest Rates Granted.

"The basis of settlement is that Germany grants to the United States her full conventional tariff rates in return for the minimum tariff of the United States. This is an exchange of minimum for minimum. It places the United States on exactly the same terms as all other countries to which Germany grants conventional rates under her various commercial conventions or most favored nation treaties.

"In the President's opinion the responsibility devolves upon him by the Payne-Aldrich act to require from all countries a grant to the United States of substantially their lowest tariff rates. It is a source of much gratification to the President that Germany finds it possible to extend to the United States her complete minimum schedules without reservation or qualification.

The statement says the solution was largely due to the conciliatory spirit of the German government. Both sides recognized that while some points of divergence between two nations would be encountered, their nature was not such as to preclude an agreement that would be beneficial in mutual markets.

In return for the concession of her conventional or lowest rates Germany will be accorded the minimum tariff of the United States.

This puts Germany in the position of the most favored nation in her tariff relations with the United States. The maximum tariff rates of the United States, which as the basic tariff would otherwise apply after March 31, will, therefore, not go into effect, minimums being granted in return for Germany's full minimum rates. The result is to give to Germany the same assurance under the United States tariff law that she has secured by her treaties with other countries.

"In reaching a settlement some questions which had arisen regarding the administrative features of the Payne-Aldrich law and some misconceptions as to a possible unfavorable treatment of German imports into the United States have been dispelled to the satisfaction of the German government. MORE WORK FOR THE STEAM ROLLER

DELAY IN BUILDING NEW PUBLIC HIGHWAY

Failure of County Commissioners and County Officials Is [illegible]

The public highway from this city to Denver, provided for in a bill passed by the last general assembly, may not be built during the present administration. Failure of the mayor and city engineers of Denver and the board of county commissioners of El Paso county to agree on the latters' proportion of the cost is delaying the matter, and no settlement of differences seems possible in the near future.

The El Paso commissioners asked and were granted a change of route and agreed to pay $7,500 for the construction of two bridges necessary. Mayor Speer and his engineer of Denver demand also that El Paso county pay half of the other expense. This latter proposal has been rejected.

As the state has only $16,000 appropriated for highway construction and the governor does not see the justice of spending it all on one project, the state cannot go ahead with the work until Denver and Colorado Springs representatives can reach an agreement.

Letters addressed to Arapahoe and Douglass county officials by the Denver people, inquiring as to their willingness to contribute have not been answered.

LEAD, S. D., Feb. 3.—The lives of the one hundred nonunion men were endangered early today by a fire that destroyed the Campbell hotel here. Many escaped with the greatest difficulty, but none was killed or injured.

The management of the hotel declares the blaze was incendiary.

Night Clerk Boland told the police he found the hotel burning in six different places soon after the alarm was given.

U. S. STEEL LEADS BREAK IN STOCKS

NEW YORK AND BOSTON MARKETS DEMORALIZED.

Pessimism as to Business and Political Outlook Rampant in Wall Street.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The onslaughs of an aggressive bear party, together with gathering distrust of the industrial, business and political outlook; brought about violent declines on the New York stock exchange today with United States Steel heading the downward movement.

Sales totalled 1,672,000 shares with a fourth of this in steel, which early in the afternoon broke to 78, the lowest level reached since last September. The price today represented a break of 3 points from yesterday's closing, of 81-2 from yesterday's high, of 131-4 points from January 3, when the high record of this year was touched, and of 17 1-8 from the price of October 2.

Chief interest centered in the decline of steel, but there was a violent liquidation of nearly every stock in the list, carrying prices down from 6 to 8 points, with sensational breaks between sales.

Because of the nervousness of the market, brokers cautioned their clients to remain within call ready to put up additional margins if necessary; and many whose accounts were on the "ragged edge" closed out, taking their losses rather than risk further declines.

The net price changes do not register the full effect on prices, as an effective rally occurred in the closing hour, when the bears bought freely to cover the day's handsome profits on the short side. At the low point, which came early in the final hour, declines ran all the way to eight points.

The violence of the movement and the volume of the market, following so prolonged and extensive a decline as has prevailed, caused [illegible] regarded as a probable culmination of the decline with a reversal likely to follow.

BOSTON, Feb. 3.—Prices on the local market were weak at the opening today and by midday the market became demoralized. United Fruit, which recently rose sensationally to 15, broke with extreme violence to its own bid offered as low as 10. Calumet and Hecla dropped ten points to 675.

Some of the most active issues registered as: 11-1 points in Alloues, to 68; 1-4 in Lake Copper to 69 3-4; 3 in Michigan to 66; 11-2 in Superior Copper to 51 and five in Utah copper to 68.

DONNELLY ARRESTED ON POINT LEAVING CITY

Former Mounted Policeman Charged With Selling Woman's Horse Will Be Arraigned.

Charged by Miss Margaret Boas, one of the librarians at the Public library with selling a horse owned by her, William Donelly, formerly a mounted patrolman on the local police force, was arrested at the Santa Fe station last night by Patrolman Locke. Donelly and his wife were boarding a Midland train on their way to the western slope when Officer Locke requested him to defer the trip for a few days. Donelly at first protested that he could be wanted for nothing. Later he said: "Well, I knew they'd get me."

Mrs. Donelly returned to her home and her husband spent the night in the county jail. He will have a hearing in Justice Dunnington's court. He had been in Pueblo for several days and the officers expected to arrest him there.

Miss Boas had intrusted her horse to the keeping of Donelly and it is alleged that he sold the animal, claiming that it was his own.

CONVICTS FIGHT FIRE

Prisoners at Joliet Aid in Subduing Flames Which Threatened Penitentiary.

JOLIET, Ill., Feb. 3. A fire in the Illinois penitentiary power house today caused great excitement among the convicts. None, however, tried to escape. On the contrary, according to Warden Murphy, they aided in battling against the flames.

The regular fire guard consists of twenty men, but 200 prisoners were pressed into service. They had accomplished much toward conquering the fire when the city department arrived.

Tucker Ballard, a negro convict serving a life sentence for murder and who has already served 26 years, was carried unconscious to the prison hospital. He will recover. Charles Aldrich, the prison engineer, also was overcome and taken ill.

Warden Murphy said the loss was at least $100,000.

PAULHAN HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH

Frenchman's Biplane Collides With Fence and Is Badly Wrecked.

AVIATOR IS UNHARMED

Last Denver Exhibition Accident Occurs When Flight Over City Is Attempted.

DENVER, Feb. 3.—Louis Paulhan, the French aviator, had a narrow escape from death this afternoon when his Farman biplane collided with the fence guarding the race track at Overland park, smashed through it and came down in a heap of wreckage on the track. Paulhan was thrown headlong, but beyond a severe shaking up escaped unharmed.

Previous to the accident, Paulhan had successfully guided his machine up into the air and had circled the Overland race track a dozen times or more. He then came to the ground and it was announced that the daring aviator would attempt to fly over the business district of Denver, three or four miles away, and return.

The runway for the machine was not more than 100 yards in length, and cramped by the race track fence and by an irrigation ditch running diagonally across the grounds, proved too short for Paulhan on his initial attempt. The machine left the ground, but too close to the fence, along which were clustered hundreds of spectators. He scattered the people like chaff, many escaping injury by falling flat on the ground. The machine struck the fence, rebounded and landed on the bank of an irrigation ditch, barely missing one of the starting posts. He shut off his motor and brought the machine to a standstill at the far end of the course.

The machine was handled back, repaired, and at 4:30 [illegible] flight, this time [illegible] results.

The biplane was not three feet off the ground when the end of the runway was reached, and although the machine little grandstand tilted dangerously to [illegible] he was unable to do so, and it crashed into the fence and came down in a mass of tangled wreckage in the middle of the race track. BIG FOUR TREASURY LOOTED FOR YEARS

STARTLING STORY TOLD BY CHIEF EMBEZZLER.

Warriner Involves Two Other Men in Thefts in His Testimony at Mrs. ...'s Trial.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 3.—A story of ... stealing that was extending over many years and finally culminating in the ... looting of the Big Four treasury, was the startling story told by Charles L. Warriner, defaulting local treasurer of the road, in his testimony today in the trial of Mrs. Jeannette Stewart-Ford for ...

Warriner represented himself as a man pouring out gold with both hands in ever-increasing amounts to keep ... the mouth of the woman, who through her ... for ... of the accused embezzler ... E. S. Cooke, had learned the secret. Frank Comstock, Warriner's predecessor as local treasurer, was declared to be the third man.

According to the witness, when he assumed the office as local treasurer in 1900 he learned that Cooke was short in his accounts ($4,111). He also learned that his predecessor, C... ..., was short $10,111. He himself was a defaulter, and to prevent his crime from being discovered he engaged to conceal the thefts of the two former officials.

The attorneys for the defense today made another futile effort to learn what became of the $643,000 that Warriner has confessed to have stolen.

The witness declared that he had paid approximately $100,000 in blackmail, and that $73,887 had been stolen by others than himself. The remainder of $449,000 is explained by him as having been lost in "speculation," but to all questions as to his investments he replied that he could not remember how much money he had put into any particular enterprise.

One of the most startling developments in the case came this afternoon when Warriner, under rigid questioning, admitted that he had handled funds placed with him for the payment of rebates; that he paid out comparatively large sums in rebates, and that the simple auditing of his accounts at any time would have disclosed his shortage.

After testifying that Auditor R. E. Hewitt had checked over his accounts, Warriner was asked by Attorney Thorndyke:

"Then how did it come that he never discovered this great shortage of yours?"

"That's for Hewitt to explain," was the complacent answer of the witness.

MRS. GOULD BROKAW GRANTED SEPARATION AND AWARDED $15,000 A YEAR ALIMONY

MRS. W. GOULD BROKAW.
Snapped Coming From the Court Room.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Mrs. W. Gould Brokaw, wife of the millionaire yachtsman, was today granted a separation and $15,000 a year alimony by Justice Putnam in the supreme court at Mineola, L. I., as a result of her suit against her husband for a limited divorce and $30,000 a year alimony.

Mrs. Brokaw declared that her husband's income was $90,000 a year and that she should have one-third of it. The decision is regarded as a compromise.

When the trial came to an end on New Year's day, it was generally conceded that Mrs. Brokaw had proved her charges of cruelty and abandonment.

The judge declared that it was not necessary for him to go into any lengthy review of the case. He said that the 24 or more charges that Mrs. Brokaw had made against her husband needed no review on his part, nor did he care to inquire further into the recriminations made on behalf of the husband in his answer to his wife's complaint.

Bill Submitted to Reichstag.

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—It was officially announced today that the tariff negotiations had made such progress that a bill for the regulation of trade relations between Germany and the United States had been passed by the federal council and assuming that it will be adopted by the legislative body it may be regarded as certain that Germany's general tariff will not be applied to American imports after February 7 as would have been the case had the diplomatic exchanges failed.

The measures for the ratification of the German-American tariff agreement was laid before the reichstag this afternoon.

The government officials do not anticipate any serious opposition in the reichstag. If the bill is adopted on Saturday they expect the bundesrath will issue a decree on Monday along with the promulgation of the tariff arrangement.

Coroner's Jury Finds Automobile Accident in Denver Result of "Criminal Negligence."

DENVER, Feb. 3.—The coroner's jury investigation of the death of three persons and serious injury of a fourth in the automobile accident here Monday, returned a verdict today charging criminal negligence against Morris Mayer, who was guiding the machine, and also criticising him for "leaving the place of the accident in the manner that he did."

Mayer is in a hospital. At the district attorney's office, following the inquest, it was announced that decision as to any possible criminal prosecution had not been made.

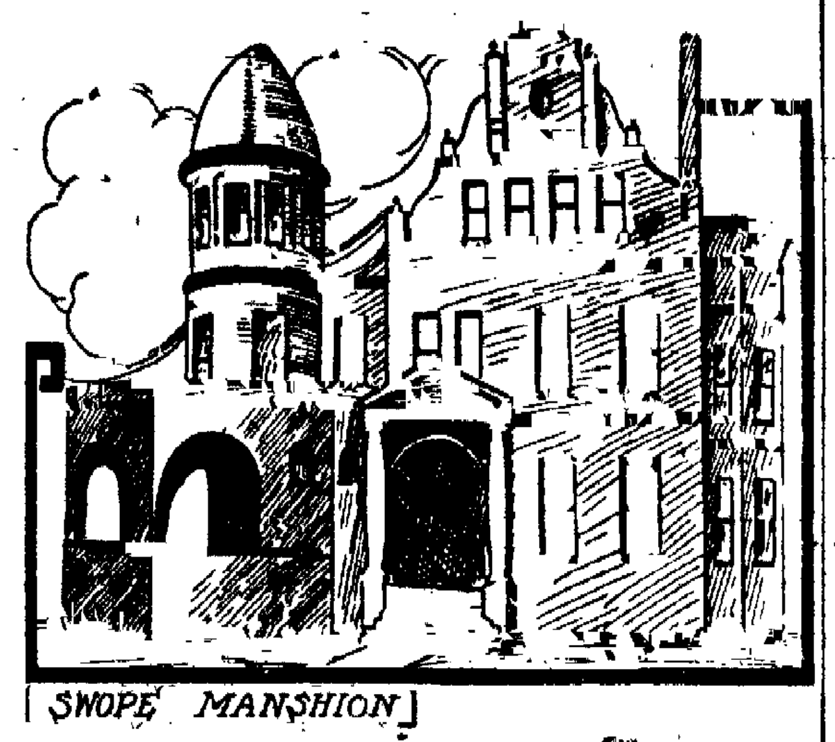

The funeral of Mrs. W. J. Kitting, one of the victims, took place today.

BITTER LEGAL CONTROVERSY IS RAGING AT KANSAS CITY OVER SWOPE POISONING

[SWOPE MANSHION]

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 3.—The inquest over the body of Colonel Thomas H. Swope, the millionaire, whose death is alleged to have been caused by poisoning, at Independence, Mo., next will be open to the public and will be held in the armory, a hall that accommodates 500 persons. Inquests ordinarily are conducted in the court house, but the coroner as a concession to public sentiment has decided to accommodate all comers and to dispel the mystery that has surrounded the case. The people at Independence are greatly aroused over the case.

Court action abruptly closed a day of warm legal warfare in the Swope case when Judge Herman Brumbach of the circuit court today enjoined attorneys representing Dr. B. C. Hyde and the persons against whom he has pending a damage suit for $500,000 from taking further depositions in the suits until the court has determined the legal status of the claims of each side.

Attorneys for both sides claim the right of priority in taking depositions. The court will probably dispose of the question Saturday and Monday the conflict that waged fiercely today will begin anew.

New facts regarding the life and habits of the late Colonel Thomas H. Swope were brought out when the deposition of S. W. Spangler on office partner of the millionaire, was taken by Frank P. Walsh, representing Dr. Hyde. Mr. Spangler told of the visits of an unidentified woman to the office and how she brought broth for Colonel Swope to eat. Mr. Swope refused to eat the broth, Mr. Spangler said. The witness also testified that Colonel Swope took medicine containing strychnine.

"A ... time before his death, Colonel Swope told me he did not ... he had long to live," ... Mr. Spangler. "It was soon after he had quit drinking. He said he did not expect to live more than 90 days. I pressed him for a reason for his belief. He said an uncle of his drank for many years and when he quit his death followed soon.

"He did not have much confidence in the average physician, nor did he have much confidence in the curative powers of medicine, although he took much of it. When he took a certain medicine that contained elixir of iron, quinine and strychnine, he usually took a teaspoonful three times a day."

John G. Paxton, executor for the Swope estate, was giving his deposition when the order stopping the examination came. James E. Vince, formerly secretary of the police board, was preparing to give his deposition to the Swope attorneys when the order was issued.

The decision of the court came as a result of the application of Attorney John M. Cleary, representing Dr. Hyde, for an injunction restraining the firm of Reed, Atwood, Yates Mastin and Harvey from taking depositions.

MAY RETURN PLEDGES

PUEBLO, Colo., Feb. 3.—Although the old and new boards of the Y. M. C. A. had virtually agreed upon the plan of arbitration for the selection of a site for the new building opposition has now developed as to the plan.

It is said that the pledges, amounting to $110,000, could not be collected and there is a possibility that the whole matter may be dropped and a new campaign started later in the year. If this is done the pledges will be returned to the subscribers within the next few days.

It is said by one who professes to know that not more than $40,000 could be collected out of the money subscribed, owing to the fight which occurred, and it is considered better to drop the matter now than to have it prove a rank failure.

A Thrilling Story of Aerial Warfare Next Sunday

If you like stories that make your pulses beat faster, you'll like the story of aerial adventure that will appear in next Sunday's Literary Magazine section of The Gazette. The writer, Edgar Wallace, a well-known author of short stories, portrays the attack of an aeroplane "Destroyer" upon a great airship which has been harassing an army in Morocco for weeks. The battle in the clouds at night time is a thrilling bit of description and you'll be certain to enjoy it.

There will be other good stories in The Gazette's Literary Magazine section also. There will be a story of deep human interest by Arthur Henry Gooden, author of "The Invader," entitled "The Voice He Heard." There will be another by Alice Perrin, author of "East of Suez," entitled "In the Court of Conscience." There will be a large installment of "At the Call of Honor," by Marchmont, and various shorter articles and stories.

RACE TO SOUTH POLE

America and England in Contest, but a Frenchman Has a Long Lead.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The plan for an American expedition to the South Pole, outlined by Commander Robert E. Peary, discoverer of the North Pole, today is accepted by British scientific men and explorers, as a challenge to an international race. The preparations for the British expedition of 1910, commanded by Captain R. F. Scott, are to be rushed and steps to that end were begun today.

In the opinion of scientific leaders a British-American contest is on. Dr. Jean Charcot, the French explorer, is already in the Antarctic, however, and he may win out ahead of all others.

The Terra Nova, Captain Scott's vessel, is rapidly being put in shape for the departure, which has been scheduled for July. Whether the date can be advanced advantageously remains to be seen.

If the expedition in Commander Peary's Roosevelt, conducted as he outlined it yesterday in Washington, under the direction of the Peary Arctic club and the National Geographical society, is actually started, the two chief contenders for the last of the great discoveries will be well matched. Although Captain Scott is trained as a leader of expeditions he commanded the expedition of 1901 which made a farthest south record—there are men of daring among Peary's followers, who it is admitted could meet him as an equal in spite of the refusal of the North Pole discoverer to head another party.

The Roosevelt is well matched in the Terra Nova, which is the largest and strongest of the old Scottish whalers. She was the queen of the Greenland whaling fleet and did hard service in far northern seas. In 1903 she was purchased as a relief ship to the discovery expedition, which Captain Scott led.

In ... the A... ... pro-posed $50,000 donation of the Geographic society and the $15,000 Roosevelt fund, would have little advantage over the English who have been raising a $200,000 fund by subscription. An American congressional appropriation, however, would put the Americans ahead finally.

C. R. Meares, known as Tibetan explorer, is in Siberia now getting ponies and dogs like those used by Lieutenant Shackleton in his expedition which brought him 110 miles of the South pole.

In personnel, too, the parties would be well matched. Peary's plan is that practically all the members of his successful northern trip make the southern journey except himself. Captain Scott has chosen many of his aides. Dr. Wilson, chief of his scientific staff, will also be his zoologist. There will be more than half a dozen other scientists at least.

The route of the proposed American expedition will in all probability lie on the opposite of the bottom of the globe to that of the Englishmen. The American path will lie by way of Punta Arenas, Cape Horn, Coatesland and the Weddell sea.

THE SAILOR CRAB.

Makes Long Voyage at Sea on the Backs of Turtles.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger

Among the many curious crabs there is perhaps none more interesting than the sailor crab, a name applied to it because it goes to sea on the backs of big green turtles and giant loggerheads.

The sailor crab is a little fellow with a body three-quarters of an inch or an inch in length. With its claws extended it might measure an inch and a half. It is a very pretty crab indeed, with color markings that are various. It may be found with a shell all yellow, or with a shell of dark colors with lighter shadings like those of finished tortoise shell; or it may have a mottled shell, or a shell whose coloring resembles that of veined marble. It seems all the prettier seen amid its rough surroundings on the big loggerhead's dingy brown shell.

The big loggerhead, with a top shell five, six or seven feet in length, may afford a floating home for various other living things. Barnacles attach to it and there live their lives traveling with it wherever it goes, as do barnacles that attach to vessels. Marine vegetation that lodges on its back may there stick and thrive, just as it would attach to rocks, gathering in clumps, or streaming back from it when the big turtle is in motion just as it might from rocks washed by a flowing tide; and in this vegetation may be found various minute forms of animal life. Some day when the big turtle, with all this life on its back, swims into shallower waters to feed or works its way through some floating mass of seaweed, one or two sailor crabs may come aboard, shipping thus for a long voyage.

An Island Home.

To the sailor crab thus embarked the big turtle may not seem like a sea-washed moving continent, but it might easily seem like a sizable island with many places to roam. When the turtle is asleep, lying still upon the waters, the little sailor crab may wander to the end of one of its long extended flippers as it might to the end of some peninsula; and then it may come back to find its way among the [illegible] of the forests of vegetation on the turtle's back; and if it is hungry, why, while the barnacles in their fixed places are reaching out with the delicate fingers and sweeping the adjacent waters as with a net to draw in [illegible] the sailor crab can move about in the vegetation and find food.

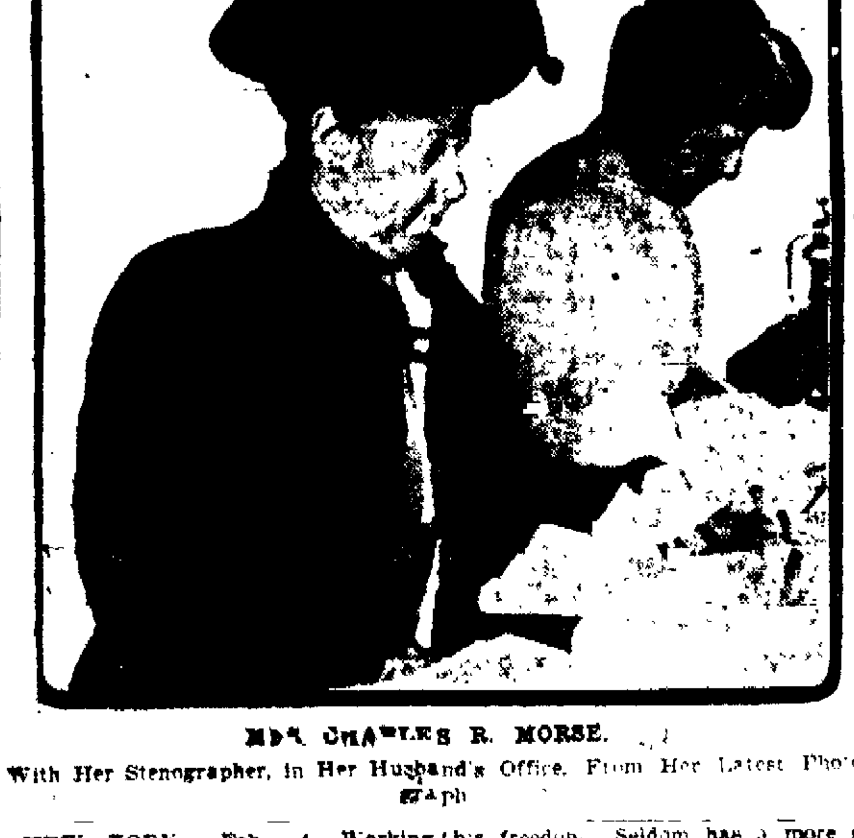

Or the sailor crab may find food in the scraps that come to it from the turtle's table. The loggerhead is both a vegetable and a flesh feeder. It will eat sea grass or whatever crustaceans it can catch or fish.

It might seem that the big loggerhead couldn't catch fish, but it is a great swimmer, and it will smash into a school of fish and snap up what it wants, and scraps from this feast may float back to lodge on the turtle's back and there furnish food for the sailor. So the sailor crab at sea on the turtle's back is likely to get enough to eat, but it has to be always on the lookout not to be swept off the ship's deck by some bigger creature.

When the turtle is under way or there is a heavy sea running it must hold on tight with its sharp claws, and it may find a refuge somewhere in the vegetation; but it is more likely to go clean aft and creep over the edge of the shell at the back of the turtle's back to where it can find a shelter and a lee. It is there the sailor crabs have oftenest been found on loggerheads which have come from the tropics in summer and been taken in local waters.

WHY HORSESHOES ARE LUCKY.

From the San Francisco Chronicle

Why is an old horseshoe supposed to bring luck to the owner if hung in the hall or behind the door? Horseshoes were at one time nailed up as a protection against witches. Many houses in the West End of London had one of these emblems of superstition on the threshold and in Monmouth street there were seventeen in 1813, and seven as late as 1855.

Lord Nelson had a horseshoe nailed to the mast of his ship Victory, and our forefathers loved to nail one on their house door.

There is a legend that the devil one day asked St. Dunstan—who was noted for his skill in shoeing horses—to shoe his "single hoof." Knowing who his customer was, Dunstan tied him tightly to the wall and proceeded with his job, but purposely put the devil into so much pain that he roared for mercy. And it was not until he had promised that he would never again enter a place where he saw a horseshoe displayed that Dunstan would release his captive.

THE BOSS.

From an Exchange.

The insurance agent climbed the steps and rang the bell.

"Whom do you wish to see?" asked the careworn person who came to the door.

"I want to see the head of the house," replied the insurance agent. "Are you the head?"

"No," meekly returned the man who came to the door. "I'm only the husband of the boss. Step in; I'll call the boss."

The insurance agent took a seat in the hall, and in a short time a tall, [illegible] woman appeared.

"So you want to see the boss?" repeated the woman. "Well, just step into the kitchen. This way, please. Bridget, this gentleman desires to see you."

"Are you the boss?" [illegible] the insurance agent asked her the question. "Indade Oi'm not! Sure here comes the boss now."

She pointed to a small boy of 10 years who was coming toward the house.

"Tell me," pleaded the insurance agent, when the lad came into the kitchen, "are you the head of the house?"

"Want to see the boss?" asked the boy. "Well, you just come along with me."

Wearily the insurance agent climbed up the stairs. He was ushered into a room on the second floor and guided to the crib of a sleeping baby.

"There!" exclaimed the boy, "that's the boss of this house."

VIOLIN OF TOOTHPICKS.

Thomas Atkinson, The Maker, Values It At $3,374.

From the Baltimore Sun.

Three thousand three hundred and seventy-four dollars is the sum asked for a violin constructed of exactly that number of toothpicks.

This unique instrument is the handiwork of Thomas Atkinson, who lives at Greenfork, Ind., a village, where his home is stocked with other freak articles which he has made. The violin, which he was more than a year in making, is just completed, and it has been tested by musicians and found to be high grade in every respect.

Its quality of tone is seldom surpassed, and its lines are graceful and have a perfect shape. In the construction of his violin Atkinson first made a frame or mold patterned after a world-famed instrument. It was so constructed that it could be picked to pieces and taken from the completed instrument through the openings. The toothpicks were all hand cut to fit the particular place in which they were to be attached. When the violin was completed it was impossible to tell from the outside appearance that it was made of so many tiny bits.

Many of the picks were so tiny that they could scarcely be seen with the naked eye. The violin is to be sent to New York, where it will be tested by skilled musicians. If the verdict is favorable, Atkinson plans to start work on another instrument of the same kind. Atkinson made his own glue for the violin, claiming that he received the formula from England, and that it is the same as that used in the making of a very rare instrument.

COURTS INVESTIGATION

Former Warden Cleghorn Ready to Meet Charges Against His Administration.

DENVER, Feb 3—John Cleghorn, for six years warden of the penitentiary, prior to the Shafroth administration, today called on Governor Shafroth to offer explanation of the transactions at the penitentiary that are alleged to have been irregular

Chief among these is the disposition of $18,000 which was appropriated by the legislatures for the constriction of a hospital and insane asylum ward at the penitentiary It is charged that not a cent of this money went for the purpose, but that the board of penitentiary commissioners of Warden Cleghorn reported to the governor at the end of 1908 that satisfactory progress was being made on the building.

Governor Shafroth told Cleghorn that until he had an opportunity to go further into the matter of the charges with State Auditor Kenehan, the explanation would be better postponed

Cleghorn, who ascribed the source of the charges to politics, said:

"I want them to investigate my office thoroughly. They will find that the penitentiary, while I was at the head of it, was run as economically, if not more so, than any prison in the country

"An investigation will further show that in the ten years in office I never took one penny from a convict. I invariably discouraged convicts paying money to attorneys in their efforts to get pardons"

RESTORATION WORK RUSHED IN PARIS

Weakened Foundations Cause Anxiety, Suffering Intense in Refugee Camps.

PARIS, Feb. 3.—The authorities today turned their attention to strengthening the foundations of Paris, which, eaten into on every side by the flood, still constitute a grave menace to the entire city, although the river continues to fall.

The sewers conduits and subways which were turned into a network of streams by the Seine as it rose, are no less threatening now that the river is falling than they were at the height of the inundation Heavy masonry walls and iron pipes have been torn asunder

Not only does the danger of the collapse of buildings lie here, but in the clogged and broken sewers there lurks the spectre of pestilence

With all the nervous energy of the French, Paris today is working at the task of rehabilitation The entire world is aiding with money and cheer, and in this assistance women have taken a prominent part Almost without exception the noted American residents in the French capital are struggling to make the American concert for the benefit of the flood sufferers the most successful event of its kind The concert is to be given at the Opera Comique a week from today

Much has already been done by the courageous army of relief workers, yet no more than the surface of the situation has been touched Huddled about the outskirts of the city are dozens of isolated refuge camps which have scarcely been reached since the first days of the flood There the suffering is intense, in the larger camps and safer refuges the situation is little better

The drinking water supply is still dangerously low and is absorbing much attention on the part of the authorities

The railroads face the task of rebuilding vast stretches of track whose bed was weakened or destroyed. The stations in the city are devastated All traffic is disorganized, only the Northern railroad can make any pretense of maintaining the schedule

The telegraph and telephone systems are in confusion

CHANGES CORPORATION BILL

President Taft Endeavoring to Overcome Objections to Publicity Feature.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The objectionable feature in the proposed corporation bill, which relates to the publicity of corporations and about which there has been more objection on the part of corporations than any other section of the bill, will be overcome, it was declared today at the White House

Corporations have raised a strenuous objection to this feature of the bill, because it would allow rival corporations to keep posted on the financial affairs of their competitors, the bill providing for the publication of financial transactions which corporations wish to keep private

F C Mead, secretary of the Merchants' association of New York, who called on President Taft today to protest against this part of the bill, was informed by the President that the treasury department will make regulations concerning the publicity feature, which will prevent corporations from obtaining information about rival corporations This would be in preference to taking an amendment to the bill.

SAYS POWER IS NEEDED

Opening of Water Sites Urged by Representative of Western Conservation League.

WASHINGTON, Feb 3—J J Brown of Spokane, Wash., a representative of the Western Conservation league, today had an interview with President Taft in which he urged the early opening of water power sites that have been withdrawn by Secretary Ballinger and his predecessors in the interior department

Mr Brown said that the power was urgently needed and argued that the use of the water would materially tend to conserve the timber and coal of the country which was now being used to create power

President Taft has already indicated that he is anxious to have the law validating withdrawals of water power sites passed at this session of Congress, saying that the laws as to the disposition of the sites could wait if necessary. Mr Brown urged that both measures be passed at the same time.

MEAT PRICES RAISED IN NEW YORK CITY

Grand Jury Visits Cold-Storage Plant in Pursuing Investigation of High Prices.

NEW YORK, Feb 3—Three hundred cans of "liquid eggs," such as are used by bakers, were seized in a cold storage warehouse by federal inspectors and condemned today

Hotel keepers complained that some of their "strictly fresh" eggs supposed to come from nearby farms had been found pencilled with the names of girls who live in Ohio and further west.

The prices of eggs receded today, but the wholesale price of almost everything else eatable advanced. Fresh blue fish were dearer than the choicest steaks and about double the price of roast beef All other fish advanced sharply Lamb and pork advanced a cent a pound Beef jumped two cents, and shipments from the west were reported in diminishing volume.

West side butchers who supply the better trade, were asking from one to three cents a pound more than the same cuts bring in London markets, which supply the better trade there with American beef bought on the hoof in Chicago

In Swift company's plant in Jersey City the grand jury today found stored 460,000 pounds of beef, 50,000 pounds of poultry and a great quantity of lamb mutton, pork, buttering, sausage meat, hearts, livers and tripe Some of the meat, according to James Brady, superintendent of the plant, had been in storage since last April The jury will be in session again tomorrow hoping to obtain evidence to secure an indictment charging a conspiracy to control prices through the medium of cold storage.

BOSTON Feb 3—An investigation into the high prices of meat has begun by District Attorney Joseph Pelletier of Suffolk county and if sufficient evidence is obtained it is said action will be taken against certain packers. A circular issued by a packing firm last week instructing its agents to "get every cent possible for meats" is believed to have influenced the district attorney to make an investigation

CHICAGO Feb 3—The most damaging evidence yet obtained by the government was uncovered today when the most important one of three "squealers"—former employes of the packers went before the federal grand jury The man's name was most jealously guarded.

In an effort to cover up the real root of the inquiry today three packing house witnesses were called. These were Rollin A Stearns, Swift & Co accountant, A F Rogers Swift & Co accountant, and A F Colby National Packing company, recalled

Colby was in the grand jury room a part of the morning He is said to have received a grilling from District Attorney Sims, who personally conducted the inquiry Loud voices were heard while he was before the jury, and when Colby left the room his face was flushed and he appeared to be angry.

The British Welsbach company has begun manufacturing electric lights.

The stomach should have a rest when it is tired out and irritated from dyspepsia and indigestion One should not call upon the stomach in this condition to do its full and complete duty. What the stomach needs is natural assistance and when this is given it the stomach responds quickly to the needed rest and comes back to its duties refreshed and invigorated

When you feel as though your stomach were a piece of lead when gases or foul odors issue from your throat when your tongue is coated and your appetite gone it is high time to send your stomach on a vacation

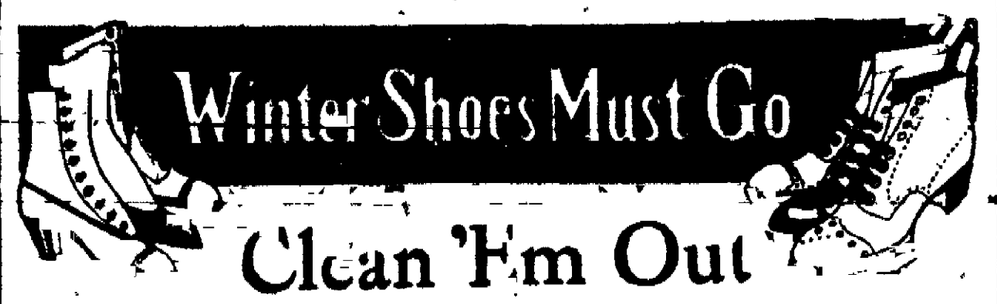

The stomach is constantly coming in contact with foreign substances, which it must reduce in form to give strength and health to the other organs of the body It is the commissary department of the human system and must furnish from such supplies as come to it all that such a system demands

If the stomach becomes deranged and cannot furnish all that is necessary it weakens the entire machinery of man and is itself placed out of commission It cannot cure itself because the curative powers of Nature receive their force from the stomach so that if the stomach issues imperfect nourishment it cannot receive perfect curative means for its own benefit

The report of the alleged plot caused great excitement in the capital A resumption of the old anti-American sentiment became apparent and steps to safeguard members of the American colony were immediately taken

ELMAN APPEARS HERE

Famous Violinist a Great Artist of Mature Powers—Has Strong Dramatic Temperment.

The musical world unlike the theater, still has great artists This was forcibly thrust home by the appearance Mischa Elman, the famous violinist, at the Opera House last evening Some one made a great error when he labeled Elman as a prodigy for he is as full a fledged artist as the artistic circles of today possess His playing lacks nothing It has maturity and finish His case is but another point of evidence that true art is ageless

The big thing about Mischa Elman is his temperment Why speak of his astounding technic of his marvelous accomplishments in that realm of mere mechanism? Technic is but a small part in the equipment of any good performer It is the means toward the end It is the foundation of art, the necessary base of all exquisite playing Naturally the greater technic one possesses, the larger the field that is open before him

The Value of Notes.

Each note of a composition means something to Mischa Elman The majority of players, and fine ones too strive only to bring out the great melodic idea of the work but Elman having embraced the main theme goes further He makes each tone speak for itself. Elman has discovered just why each note is in the score and he proposes to make his hearers understand also. Often he would look at his hearers, silently asking and demanding that they appreciate just what this special tone was trying to say When the violin becomes a human voice then its mission is accomplished. If ever a player made his instrument actually sob, laugh and horrify Elman does His tones pulsate with life, with humanity. Whether it be a quaint old Gluck melody, or a Pasanni concerto, the violinist makes his instrument sing. Its tone is warm, passionately so, for it is of life His playing expresses, it cries, it pleads, it demands, it dances, it questions, it searches, it haunts, it compels. That is Elman and his master work.

Excuse for Fantasies.

Elman's interpretation of the Faust fantasie justifies its place on the program This style of music heretofore has held its own only because of the marvelous chance it gives a player to startle his audience with mere bravado technic, a poor excuse for poor music But Elman makes a tone-drama out of the Faust" fantasie He pictures the simple, trusting Marguerite, he shows the amorous Faust and his carnal desires and the crafty, insinuating Mephistopheles In the Wagner number "Walter's Prize Song" from Die Meister-singers' one felt the presence of the singer, appearing before the musical tribunal, his frenzy of song his ecstacy, his thrilling intensety the power of beautiful melody and Walter's triumph of his jealous little competitors Another fine piece of playing was the Schubert 'Serenade' Schubert the master of songs never wrote anything finer It is intensely human full of great longings, secret hopes and desires, agonies and unanswered yearnings

In the Hayden Minuette Elman portrays the courtiers in their light and shipping times the bows and the stately grandeur of the Minuette Elman's work is of a big field of violin playing touched only in rare instances and then only by the really great artists

Percy Kahn the accompanist deserves much praise An accompanist is just what the word implies and yet how very few are the players who realize this! They either think that they are playing a duet with the soloist or else that they are the principal features of the recital Kahn gave beautiful support to Elman's artistry

It is believed that the canon will soon pay for itself. The receipts for the last five years were $129,802.57 and the expenditures $34,018.76. It is believed that the city's profits for the first year will be $3,000.

ARMORY FOR THIS CITY IS ASSURED

State Buys Platte Avenue Site and Work on Building Will Begin About April 1.

The site for the proposed National Guard armory in Colorado Springs situated on East Platte avenue, between Weber street and Wahsatch avenue, was finally purchased from William Clark of this city by the state of Colorado last Wednesday. Formal transfer was made in Denver. The consideration was $3,000.

Colonel W. A. Davis of the Second regiment, who has been one of the most active promoters of the proposition, returned to Colorado Springs late Wednesday night, after holding a conference with Governor John F. Shafroth and Adjutant General John Chase. The state withdrew its objection to the liquor clause embodied in the deed to the property, which for a time threatened to block the sale, and the opposition of some of the residents of the neighborhood also came to nothing, as the majority of the property owners in the block signed the petition favoring the erection of the armory there.

Begin Building April 1.

Colonel Davis announced yesterday that work upon a building to cost $10,000 will be begun by April 1, and that it is expected that it will be completed and ready for occupancy within five months.

The new company which is to be organized here will be mustered in some time next week. All preliminary arrangements have been made, and Colonel Davis and other officers of the National Guard have only been waiting to see whether the armory would be assured before taking definite steps. The order to muster in the company is expected at any time. Sixty-five men have applied for membership in the company, and it is believed that the new company will be mustered in with a complement of fully 70 men. It will become a part of the Second regiment, N. G. C., which is eventually to consist of 12 companies, four of which have already been mustered in. Colonel Davis and Quartermaster General George Lee will make an inspection of the companies of the Second regiment. Company K, in Cripple Creek was inspected last night, company H of La Junta will be inspected next Saturday, and Company E of Montrose, February 17.

TALK OF NEW LIGHTS

New Ornamental System [illegible] Is Plan—More Replies in Favor of Paving.

A decorative system of street lighting suggested several years ago and dropped on account of the failure of the city and street railway company to agree, has been broached by Mayor H. F. Avery. The plan which probably will be considered by the Council at this time owing to the proposed paving, is to remove all the present poles in the paving district on Tejon and Pikes Peak avenue, and substitute ornamental iron posts with clusters of lights at the top. The former plan was for the street car company and the city to share equally in the expense.

Of the 38 replies received by the paving committee of 11, 30 are in favor of paving.

NO MORE WITNESS FEES

City Officials Not Entitled to Them, According to County Commissioners.

In the future the county commissioners will refuse to pay city officials who are called as witnesses in any case in the courts. This may lead to a pretty legal fight as the city attorney says city officials are entitled to pay when called as witnesses. The county commissioners say that it is not customary in other counties for city officials to receive pay when acting as witnesses in the courts. City Attorney McKesson says city officials are employed by the city and that when they are called upon by the county to appear as witnesses in any court they are entitled to regular witness fees.

DELEGATES LEAVE

The City Is Well Represented at State Convention Y. M. C. A. at Grand Junction.

A delegation of local members of the Young Men's Christian association left Colorado Springs last night to attend the annual Colorado state convention of the organization which opens today in Grand Junction. Those who will represent the city are Clarence P. Dodge, chairman of the state committee and president of the local association; C. B. Hall, secretary of the local association; Frank Cheley, secretary of the boys' department, J. W. Murphy, physical director; Dr. W. W. Flora, Dr. J. R. Robinson and DeWitt Robinson. As many as 200 delegates are expected at the convention, representing all parts of the state. Several matters of importance are to be considered.

TOURIST RATE THE SAME

Railroad Official Indicates That There Is Little Hope of a Reduction.

Although it was hoped by residents of Colorado Springs that the summer tourist rate between Chicago and Denver and Colorado Springs would be reduced this summer from $30 to $25, L. W. Wheatley, general passenger agent for the Burlington lines west of the Missouri river, who was in the city yesterday, intimated that at last week's meeting of the Western Passenger association directions were given to continue with the advertising of the same rate as last year. No official announcement as to the action taken by the association, however, has yet been made.

REPORT NOT CONFIRMED

Rich Strike Is Said to Have Been Made on the Isabella Mine.

It was reported in Colorado Springs yesterday that a big strike had been made in the Lee shaft of the mine of the Isabella company in the Cripple Creek district. No official confirmation of the fact could be obtained at the office at the mine in Cripple Creek last night. The Isabella mine several years ago shipped a car of the richest ore ever mined in the Cripple Creek district and yesterday's report was to the effect that the strike just made is one of the richest in the history of the district.

How Nervous Man Get Most Out of Life.

(From "Successful Men.")

Nervous, ill-minded men who fail to get all he can out of life but many a man knows that he is falling far short.

The successful man works, eats and sleeps with his nerves; his nerves are keenly alive. His tastes, hears, sees and feels all with the highest emotions of vibrant healthy nerves. As a consequence he has strength, endurance, energy, animal magnetism, which make him near and dear to his worship, his manliness chivalry, and strenuous.

Without keen, sensitive, well nourished nerves, such a man would be an object of pity, and not the brilliant success he is. All men should have well-nourished nerves, but if the blood and vital organs do not supply the chemical or substances known as nerve fluid, then the waste of the nerves is not renewed daily and hourly as it should be. The nerves become exhausted, giving rise to such symptoms as trembling hands and limbs, cold feet and hands, melancholia, hysteria, timidity, nervousness, sleeplessness, dizziness, heart palpitation, pains in the back, headache, langour and weariness at all times. A new valuable nerve treatment, restorative in every sense, is to be found in the following prescription, emanating, it is said, from a brilliant and successful specialist on nervous ailments.

The treatment can be prepared in the privacy of home and thus causes no one any embarrassment. First get three ounces of syrup of sarsaparilla compound in a six-ounce bottle. To this add one ounce of compound fluid balmwort shake well and let stand two hours. Then add one ounce of tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom) and one ounce of compound essence cardiol. Mix. Shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring.

It is astonishing to feel the new nerve force, the steadied nerves and the control of every muscle in the body after using this. Overworked office men, and the many victims of society's late hours and dissipation will surely find in this the restorative, rejuvenating force they are sorely in need of. The ingredients are used in various prescriptions and any good druggist can supply them.

WIRELESS TO SUPPLANT THE CABLES.

Experts have declared that the year 1910 will see the replacing of the Atlantic cables by the United Wireless. The United company is building high power stations on Long Island and at Eastport, Maine, to communicate direct with the stations that are being erected in Europe, and messages by wireless will not only be for the rich, but will be within the reach of the man with only a few dollars. The near future will see messages being sent across the oceans for less than an ordinary land message at present.

READY FOR A FIRE

Reel of Rope Placed in Patrol to Keep People Out of Danger Zone at Blaze.

To avoid interference of spectators with the firemen Commissioner E. C. F. Whitaker and Chief of Police Steve Armstrong has arranged to rope off every fire that occurs in the business part of the city.

Under the personal supervision of Chief Armstrong yesterday afternoon the patrol wagon was equipped with a reel around which is wound a long rope. As soon as a fire alarm comes in from the business part of the city the patrol wagon will be sent to the scene and the building where the fire occurs will be roped off. Every person except those entitled to be in the fire lines will be kept outside the space roped off.

It is customary in all large cities to establish fire lines and rope the spectators back. This prevents spectators from being injured by falling walls, pieces of timber, or from being struck by the fire hose.

U. S. R. & R. CO. INCREASES WAGES OF EMPLOYES

A general increase in wages at the Standard plant of the United States Reduction and Refining company has resulted from a reclassification of the schedule which was made January 1. It is said that over 70 per cent of the 300 employes are affected by the change and that men who hitherto have been receiving $1.80 a day will now receive $2.00, whereas those who formerly received $2.00 will not get $2.20. The increase was made voluntarily by the management.

HOPPE STILL LEADS IN MATCH WITH MORNINGSTAR

PITTSBURG, Feb. 3.—Willie Hoppe ran up a second block of 500 points in his 1,500-point championship 18.2 balk line billiard match with Ora Morningstar, but the latter was close on his heels with 405. The total score now stands, Hoppe, 1,000; Morningstar, 807.

The contest was one of the sharpest and most brilliant ever witnessed in this city. Hoppe ran out his 500 in 19 innings, for an average of 26 6-19, while Morningstar's 405 were made in 15 innings, with an average of 27 9-15. Morningstar caught the gallery with a marvelous masse, which was not more spectacular than a brilliant two-rail masse turned by Hoppe.

In the first half of the fourteenth inning Hoppe tallied 80 and followed this with 91, which put him in front, but Morningstar came back in the fifteenth inning with 83, and had a fine chance to run out his string in his seventeenth turn. However, he missed an easy shot after getting away with a number of hard caroms. Hoppe ran off his required 63 in the nineteenth.

IS HE DOWN AND OUT?

PHILADELPHIA JACK O'BRIEN,

The Dude of Pugilism

"He's all in, he's through." That's what one now hears of Jack O'Brien since Al Kaufman beat him in a six round bout at Philadelphia. But is he? Jack has been whipped before, and always came back for more. But he did not get it, because he always turned the tables on his man and came back a winner. In a sixround affair Jack's opponent would make a good showing and NEARLY win. Then there would be a rematch, and Mr Opponent would get an awful lacing, while Jack would smile and go to the bank the next morning and deposit a roll of bills. He's the same old Jack just as foxy as ever, and the best business man in the world of pugilism; also Jack is the best-dressed pugilist to be found. When he fought Tommy Burns in Milwaukee a few years ago he visited a newspaper office in the morning attired in a business suit. At noon he returned with a neat black suit of clothes, and at 5 o'clock in the afternoon he wore still another suit. And in his trunk he had an evening full dress suit for "special occasions." He's the same Jack O'Brien, and will be for a long time before he gets through collecting the money.

Sporting Notes

Wasn't it in 1906 that a certain Hans Wagner, color white, occupation balltosser, lost the world's series for Pittsburg, yet this dinosaurus was not drawn and quartered by the Pittsburg club? (Respectfully dedicated to William Abstein.)

Baseball may be only "in its infancy," as President Ebbetts declared recently, but it is a very healthy child that can spend $100,000 for spring training. And yet it is estimated that the major leagues will spend that amount to condition the players in the south.

Turner of the Naps has ... about come to the conclusion that his arm lacks the necessary strength to shoot the ball across the diamond, and has hinted that he would be willing to hold ... the first sack. His chances to play that bag for Cleveland do not look bright, with Stovall first baseman and captain, and besides Terry lacks several inches of the traditionally necessary height of first basemen.

Rube Waddell had a long talk with President Hedges and Jack O'Connor the other day, and when the big bonus was offered him if he stayed on the wagon next season, the Rube became very enthusiastic, and vowed "never again" for him. The Rube met one of his old-time ... friends on the way out, and told him that it was ... and water for him from now on, and that was no joke. The bartender suggested that the Rube drink sarsaparilla, and the Rube said he would just as soon as he learned to pronounce it.

JUSTICE DEFEATED BY TECHNICALITIES

GREAT NEED FOR REFORM IN LEGAL PROCEDURE.

Many Instances Cited Showing Where Wrong Has Been Done by Decisions of the Courts

By Frederick J. Haskin.

The convention which President Taft hopes to call for the purpose of finding ways and means of simplifying legal procedure will have work a-plenty. Besides the proverbial slowness with which modern justice uses her balance to determine the right, there are hundreds of technicalities which more often defeat the ends of justice than subserve them. That apocryphal verdict, "guilty but not proven," finds many more or less exact counterparts in legal procedure. A legislator once was indicted for bribery. He was tried and acquitted. Asked about the outcome, he replied: "Vindicated, sir, vindicated." "A verdict of not guilty, then, I suppose?" pressed the questioner. "Well, not exactly," answered the statesman, in a flush of honesty. "The indictment read that I was a member of the assembly, whereas I was a member of the legislature. It further set forth that I accepted a bribe, whereas it was proved only that I took the money."

In another case an old colored man appeared before a police judge for stealing chickens. As he came before the bar the judge asked him if he were the defendant. He replied: "No, sah, that gent'mum ober dar is de one what does de defendin'. I se de gent what stole de chickens." Yet he was permitted to plead not guilty, and "de gent'mum ober dar" put up such a defense for him that he went scot free.

Some years ago a man by the name of John Smith owed a St. Louis merchant a sum of money. This merchant discovered that an Illinois firm was indebted to a John Smith, so he garnisheed the money in the hands of the firm and collected it. Later the John Smith who was the creditor of the Illinois firm came to collect his bill. He was told that his money had been garnisheed for the satisfaction of the debt due the St. Louis merchant. But he had never owed anything to the St. Louis merchant. It was a clear case of mistaken identity. His money had been taken to satisfy the debt of another John Smith. He brought suit against the St. Louis merchant to recover his money. He had never owed this merchant a cent in his life, and was prepared to prove it, but the court held that it could not right the wrong it had done him.

Chicago offers a well known instance of the ends of justice being defeated by a technicality. A notorious character was arrested while dressed in the garb of a woman. He was tried and sentenced as a woman. Afterward he took advantage of his knowledge of the technicalities of the law and declared that he was a man. The courts held that a man could not be kept in prison after having been tried and convicted as a woman.

In Missouri a woman and her child were murdered by a man who wanted the victim to leave her husband and elope with him. He was arrested, pleaded insanity, but was sentenced to be hanged. By forgery he secured money to carry an appeal to the supreme court. All the lower courts upheld the verdict of the trial court, and yet the supreme court reversed it and the prisoner died a free man. The affirmation of 13 judges was outweighed by the dissension of five. In another case the record in a murder case failed to say that the prisoner was arraigned and pleaded not guilty, although the context abundantly showed it. Yet on this technicality the prisoner escaped by the reversal of the verdict of the lower court.

Taft's Experience in Ohio.

President Taft himself has had some experience with the delays of the law. Years ago the people of his home city became tired of these delays and injustices, and burned the court house as an evidence of their impatience. Mr. Taft visited Columbus and was heard by a judiciary committee of the legislature. He appealed for a reduction in the number of preemptory challenges in criminal trials from 23 to 12. The chairman of the committee settled back and observed: "Why, I have seen the time when I would have given my entire fee in a case to have had the 24th preemptory challenge." Mr. Taft declares that the lawyers are pennywise and pound foolish—that through delays, technicalities and expensive procedure they are forcing men to arbitration who would otherwise appeal to the courts.

The law provides certain protection to accused persons, and often these safeguards produce anomalous conditions. For instance, a highway robber attempts to hold up a man. He is stabbed by the intended victim, who escapes. An officer, in arresting the highwayman, discovers the stab wound. It is the best link in the chain of evidence, and would make the conviction of the would-be robber certain, yet, under legal procedure, it is not admissible as evidence. If the highwayman had been successful in his attempted holdup, he would have been searched from head to foot and this evidence brought out against him. A jury may resort to any sort of tactics to decide a case, even to the flipping of a coin or drawing straws, and the court is powerless to invade the jury room with its questions. But if a prying bailiff or an eavesdropping clerk chances to see or hear something his tale is ... evidence against the jury.

Creditor Given Advantage.

If a man owes another $10,000 and finally is able to prevail upon his creditor to scale down the obligation to $5,000, the creditor, or his heirs, after having accepted $5,000 can reconsider the ... later sue for the ... of the debt, on the ground that there was no "consideration" for the ... the balance unpaid. But if the debt ... if to add a ... a fishhook or ... , he complies with the law of "consideration" and the debt is satisfied in full without ... .

In ... if one ... pays the debt ... he can be ... to pay the ...; and if he ... lost ... he ... the ...

erroneously collected the second time. The ground upon which the courts hold that he cannot recover his money, though he holds two receipts, is that there must be an end to litigation. Thus the creditor may, with the full knowledge of the court, retain money that he unjustly collected through the machinery of that same court.

Sometimes there are judges who dislike technicalities. Not long ago a New York judge was hearing a case of assault and battery. The plaintiff had addressed insulting language to the defendant while the latter was out walking with his wife, and was severely pummeled therefor. In addressing the jury after the evidence was in, the judge said: "If I had been out walking with my wife and the plaintiff had addressed me in such terms as it is not denied he addressed the defendant, I would have given him such a beating that the one he got from the defendant would have seemed like play in comparison. But, gentlemen, that is not law. Take the case." The jury seemed to think it was law, however, by the character of the verdict it returned.

In most states the absence of a will makes the law of inheritance carry out the natural desire of man that his property pass to his direct descendants, but sometimes an entire estate, or a large part of it, is diverted to people of no blood relation whatever. Here is a case in point: A wealthy man died, leaving his property to an only daughter. She died and it descended to her two sons. The one son married and had a family. The other died without children and without a will. His property reverted to his father, who in the meantime had married again and had children by his second wife. Thus was half of a large estate diverted from its natural descent to alien hands, plainly contrary to what naturally would have been the will of him who had accumulated it.

Laws Contradictory.

Laws are often so contradictory in their terms that it is impossible to observe them all. Sometimes one section of a statute prohibits by indirection the very thing another section specifically requires. A school law in one state provides that no school shall be kept open less than a given number of days in each year. Yet in the next paragraph a limit of taxation is given which is too low to permit the schools to be kept open that long.

Even the greatest of lawyers have sometimes been unable to comply with the very laws they assisted in making. Samuel J. Tilden, candidate for president of the United States and one of the foremost lawyers of his time, wrote his will in such a way that it failed to pass muster when brought into court. A mere technicality stood in the way of the fulfillment of his dying desire. Many other instances of lawyers who made a dismal failure of writing their own wills could be cited.

The delays of the law are no less proverbial than the defeats which justice sustains through technicalities. An Indiana calf case is an instance of how litigation may survive even the cause at issue. Two farmers became involved in a dispute over the ownership of a calf. They could not settle their differences between themselves, so they took their troubles to court. The case went from one stage to another. Meanwhile the calf grew to maturity and died. But still the case went on, and the costs became the issue instead of the calf itself. Years afterward, when the court of last resort was reached, it was found that one of the parties to the suit had died of old age before seeing the end of the litigation.

Nearly every court in the land is clogged with business. Especially is this true of the courts of appeal. It is believed that over one-third of the cases that are carried from trial courts to those of appeal are reversed, and in nearly every case the reversal is on technicalities. This reversal of trial courts has become so serious, in many cases manifestly thwarting the ends of simple justice, that many of the higher courts have decided that hereafter, unless it can be shown that substantial injustice has been done by the verdict of the trial court, its findings will not be set aside.

A DOG WHO CAN SING.

From the New York Tribune.

A London paper tells us that the Earl of Roslyn has a dog who can sing. The Countess of Roslyn accompanies him on a mouth organ and he interprets such airs as "God Save the King" and "Home, Sweet Home" with great feeling. One day a famous tenor was singing for the guests of the Roslyns, and Pincher, who had been lying on the hearth rug and listening with evident enjoyment, joined in on the last notes. Of course, every one applauded, including the tenor, and Pincher graciously sang an encore.

MAY BECOME FIRST LADY OF CANADA

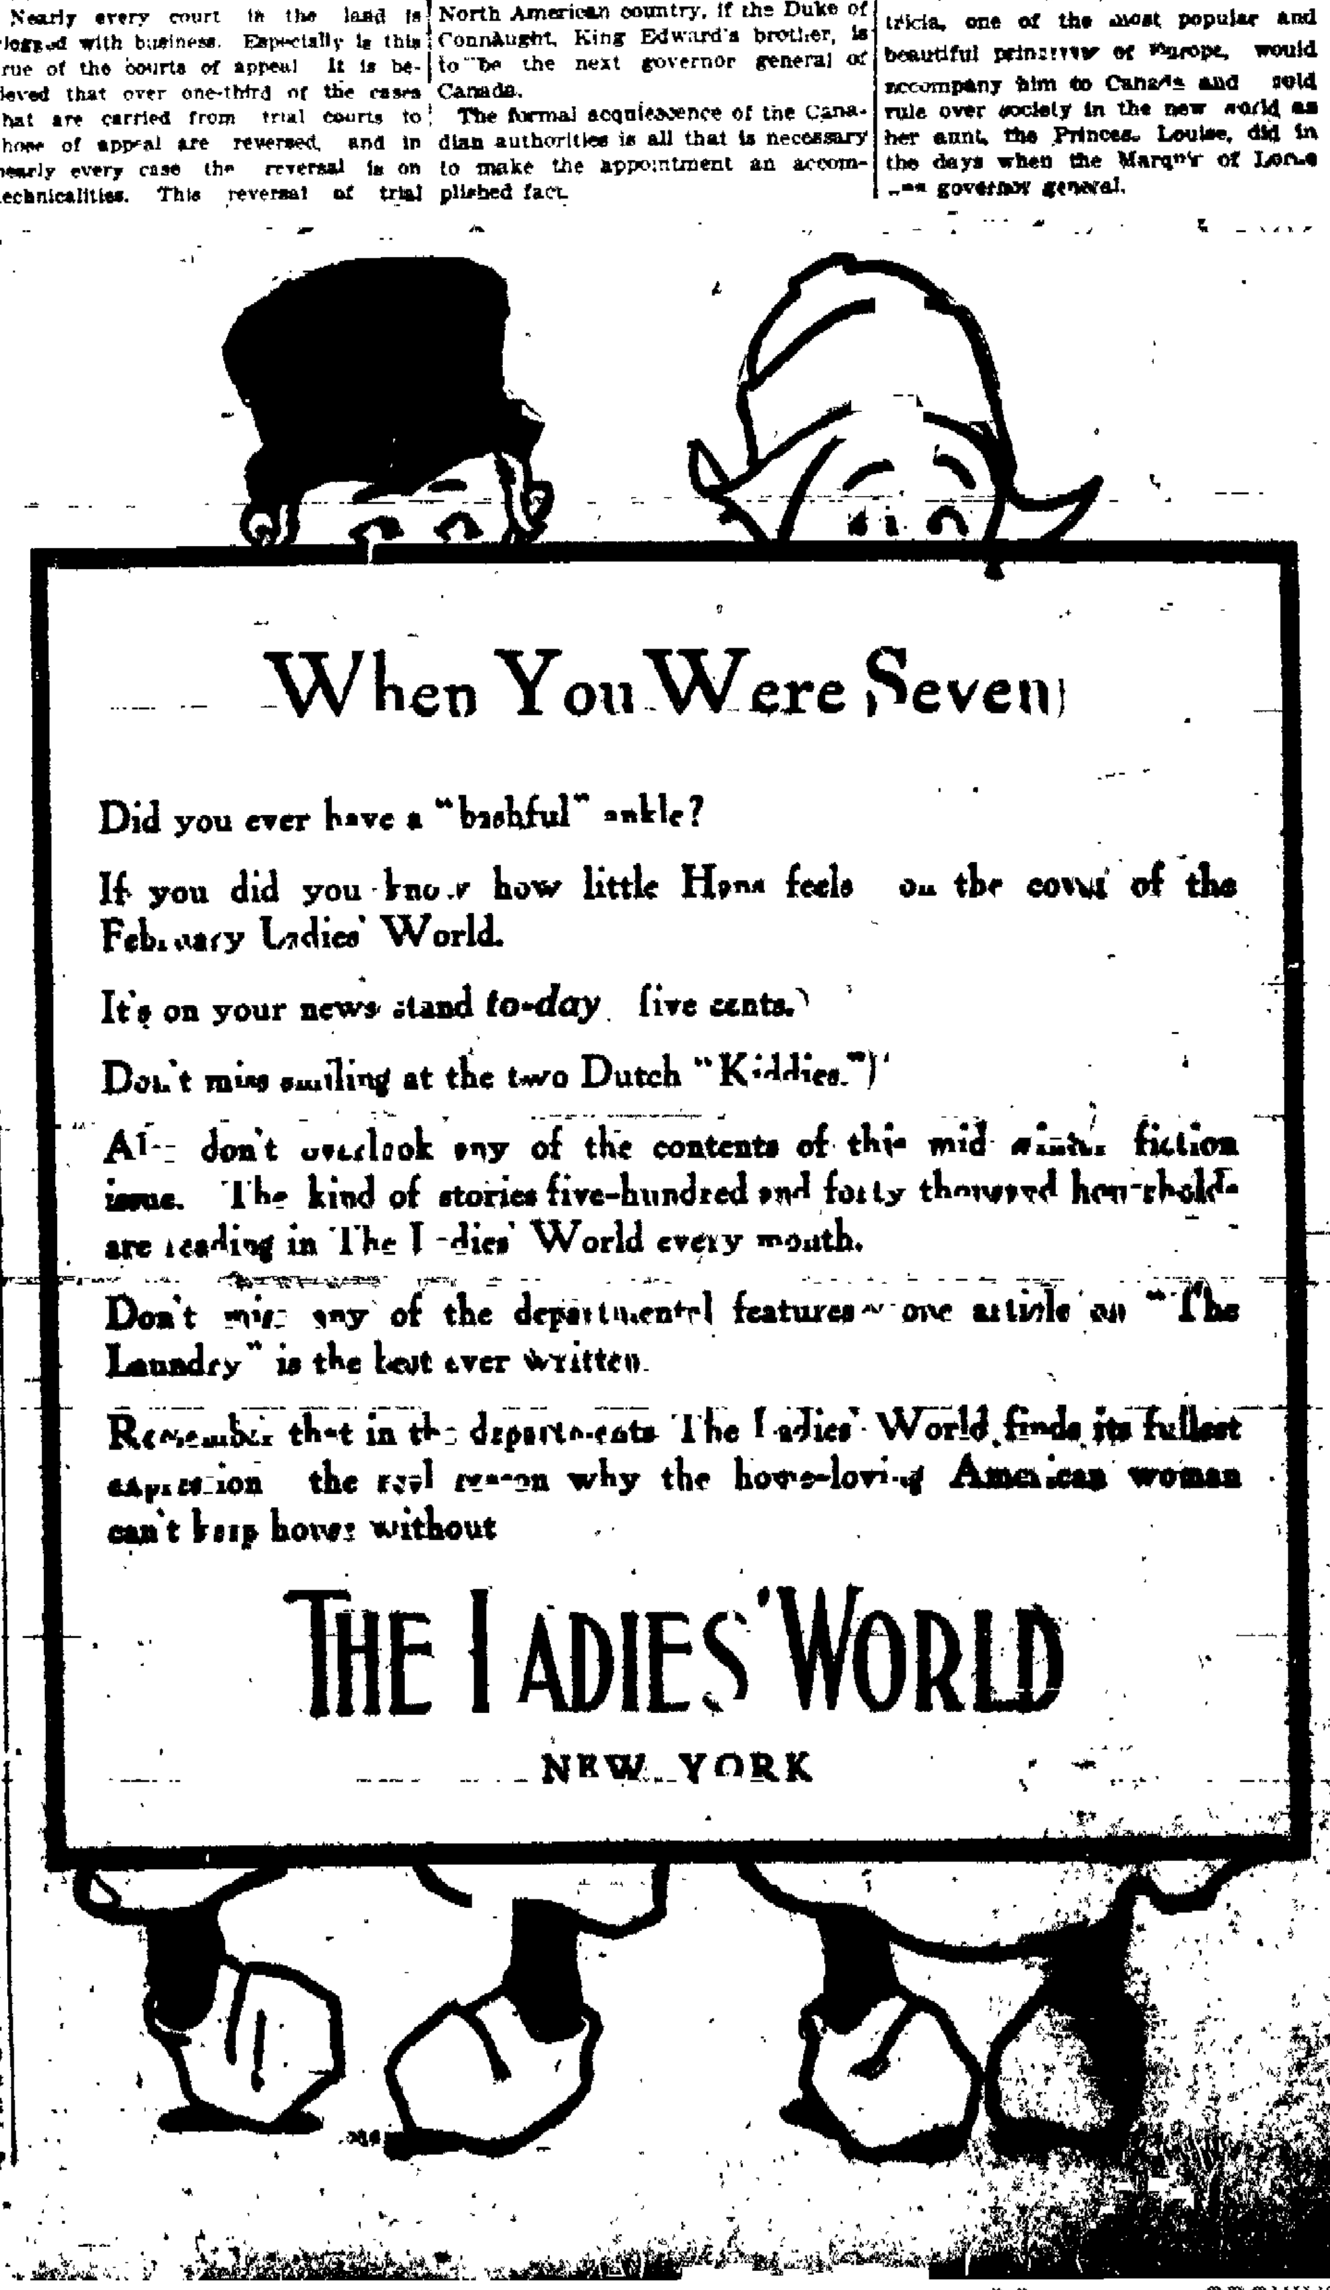

H. R. H. PRINCESS PATRICIA OF CONNAUGHT

For the first time in history a prince of the blood will rule in person over a North American country, if the Duke of Connaught, King Edward's brother, is to be the next governor general of Canada.

The formal acquiescence of the Canadian authorities is all that is necessary to make the appointment an accomplished fact.

Should the duke receive the appointment, his daughter, the Princess Patricia, one of the most popular and beautiful princesses of Europe, would accompany him to Canada and hold rule over society in the new world as her aunt, the Princess Louise, did in the days when the Marquis of Lorne was governor general.

AIRSHIPS AND ALTITUDE.

Interest in the Paulhan flight in Denver was accentuated by the fact that no aeronaut had ever made a trip through the air at the altitude of Denver, and there were not wanting those who believed that the light atmosphere would materially affect the attempts when made. But this man appears to find the atmospheric conditions an aid rather than a hindrance and has made a successful flight under the most trying circumstances of wind and weather. His performance on Wednesday in the midst of a snow storm, wherein he "flew" 12 miles in 19 minutes may be fairly classed as a remarkable feat.

Paulhan's successful journeys through the air at this altitude invite renewed attention to the possibility and desirability of having an aviation meet in this state this summer or fall. There can scarcely be a more desirable place. Perfect weather, fine atmospheric conditions, and abundant opportunity for trials and contests of every kind.

As for the audience, the excitement and enthusiasm which attended this opening performance are quite sufficient to insure an attendance which would pay all expenses and leave a large balance for the promoters or aviators.

In The Gazette of August, 1903, there was an article based upon the proposal of some inventor to make a flight from the top of Pikes Peak. And though such a performance seemed little short of absurd at that time, yet in these few years the science of aeronautics has reached the point where such a performance seems not only possible but altogether probable.

COMMISSION IDEA GAINING GROUND.

THE commission plan of city government seems to be gathering force as rapidly as its best friends could wish. A notable victory has just been achieved in Illinois through the passage of a bill, which, when rightly amended, will go to the governor, whereby all cities of that state, with the exception of Chicago, are permitted to adopt the commission form of municipal administration, if they so desire. It is unfortunate that Chicago was not included, but perhaps the results achieved in other cities of the state will in time force the politicians who control that city to yield to public sentiment and place Chicago upon a business basis.

The plan of city government by commission is making steady progress throughout the country. Its chief opponents, as in the case of Illinois, are the politicians in the great cities who see their opportunities for exploitation slipping away from them as fast as the idea is adopted. Nothing but pressure and determination will cause these men to yield, but they will undoubtedly be overwhelmed in time. The entering wedge in Illinois is in itself a great victory and should be very gratifying to all those who believe that city government is a matter of business rather than politics.

In Colorado the idea is rapidly gaining ground. While Pueblo a few days ago voted against the plan by a very narrow margin, yet when one considers that it was the first battle and that powerful forces were arrayed against the advocates of government by commission, it was really a victory and there can be no manner of doubt as to the successful outcome when the proposition is next submitted to the people. In Montrose, a few evenings ago, one of the largest and most enthusiastic meetings of citizens ever held pronounced strongly in favor of the plan and in all probability it will be adopted this spring. Greeley and other cities are taking up the idea and will be heard from in the [illegible] and it is altogether probable that in the next five years practically all the principal cities in Colorado will have the commission plan in [illegible] for these various cities to choose their commissioners with care and discrimination in order that they may get the best results under the new system.

POLITICS AND THE CENSUS.

SOME controversy has arisen in Congress over a letter purporting to have been sent by Representative Crowe of Missouri to one of his constituents offering the latter the post of census taker with the understanding that he should also ascertain the relative strength of the "insurgents" and regular Republicans. Mr. Crowe was not present to speak for himself, but Representative Bartholdt, of the same state, expressed the opinion that if Mr. Crowe wrote the letter he did it upon his own motion and that too without the authority of the director of the census.

It may perhaps, be [illegible], that when the matter of census appointments came up several [illegible] ago President Taft made an address to a number of men who had been selected as supervisors [illegible] in which he made it very clear and [illegible] that political matters should be absolutely [illegible] and the business of taking the census. He [illegible] so far as to say that if nothing were [illegible] the matter he would [illegible]. There is no [illegible] to believe that the [illegible].

[illegible] that the [illegible] is firmly in his determination to keep politics out of this very important governmental enterprise.

If Mr. Crowe, or any other [illegible] is trying to use the census as a political vehicle he is doing it contrary to the President's explicit orders, and [illegible] [illegible] at the hands of the executive. If there is any part of the government that [illegible] should be completely independent of politics and political considerations it should be this decennial enumeration of the people and the business affairs of the nation.

ANOTHER POLAR QUEST.

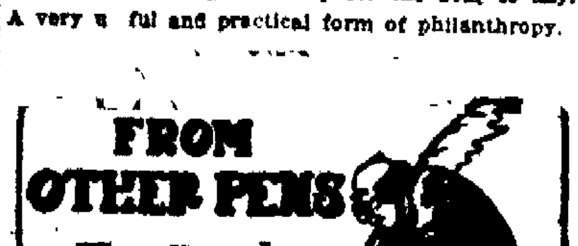

COMMANDER PEARY sighs for further Arctic worlds to conquer. Not content with hailing the American flag to the North Pole he now desires to be among the first in putting the stars and stripes at the southernmost point of the globe. In behalf of the Arctic club he has made a proposition to the National Geographic society to furnish the steamer Roosevelt with its equipment, to an exploring expedition, if the society will give $50,000 to furnish supplies and other necessary paraphernalia. Not only this but the Arctic club will pay half of the cost of the expedition, over the $50,000 above mentioned, if the Geographic society will pay the other half.

Commander Peary announces that he will not head the expedition himself as the hard work involved will require a corps of younger men. Indeed, it would seem that the discoverer of the North Pole has contributed enough in energy and enthusiasm as well as in increased knowledge of polar regions, to permit him to remain in honorable retirement. But it is gratifying that with the great honors which have come to him, he is still very deeply interested in the work of research and discovery in these icy regions and is ready to do all in his power to secure the coveted prize of both poles for the United States.

While other nations, notably the British, have been the leaders in the work of Antarctic discovery yet they will undoubtedly be glad to see the United States in the field, realizing that the quest is so difficult and hazardous that it will tax the ability and energy and resourcefulness of the explorers of this or any other country before the goal is finally achieved.

The free lecture course at Colorado College which opens on Monday next, offers an unusual opportunity to the people of Colorado Springs. The course is given by the president and members of the faculty and comprises a list of subjects of exceptional variety and attractiveness. While the lectures are primarily educative in their purpose yet the subjects are handled in popular style and not in technical terms. The lectures on travel, forestry, literature and scientific subjects are bound to interest a large number of people of this city; and the college has done a highly commendable thing in opening its doors to the townspeople and inviting them to this course.

One American has made his contribution to the Paris sufferers in the form of a loaf of bread to every needy person each day for the next 30 days. A very useful and practical form of philanthropy.

REFORM BY BOMB.

From the Saturday Evening Post.

In writing that heading it was not recent events in Russia, India and Korea that we had in mind. We mean, rather, the more familiar process of selecting an eminent but undesirable citizen and touching him off with a can of journalistic dynamite.

This method is, no doubt, useful and necessary upon some occasions. As a means of protest it is often very effective. The concrete, personal story catches the public mind and rivets attention in a way that must ultimately be beneficial. But as an end, rather than a means, it is wholly objectionable. The exploded person, in almost every case, was no worse than thousands of others. In most cases he had been doing something that had been tolerated and half sanctioned by long-continued custom. In every case some entirely innocent people suffer with him. If the operation goes no further than simply to blow him up personally it is useless, for so long as the system that produced and sustained him remains intact some other bureaucrat will instantly step into his place. There were life-insurance scandals and exposures long before the last one. There will be sugar-weighing frauds 20 years hence, unless a different moral atmosphere surrounds the docks. Under reform administrations in cities graft has flourished.

Never by assassination, but only by an upheaval of the people, has political liberty been achieved. The only reform that lasts results from a higher state of the public mind and conscience. As an educational means, blowing up individuals may be useful; but if the condition that produced the individual is unchanged it will produce his successor. Therefore, gently, brother, gently! Blow in sorrow, not in glee; drop a tear upon the fuse. Even if that tear happens now and then to put it out, perhaps nothing will be lost in the final account.

TWO NICARAGUAN LESSONS.

From the New York Journal.

The flight of Mr. Zelaya, or perhaps more particularly the manner of it, is significant. We hear of his making his way from Managua to the Pacific coast by night, by special boat on the lake and by special train on the railroad, closely surrounded by a company of friends, all heavily armed, as though it might be necessary to fight for life and passage through a hostile land. Surely it is not thus that a patriotic and benevolent chief of state, the choice and idol of the people, forced out of office by wicked aggressions of an alien government—such as Mr. Zelaya has represented himself to be—would take leave of his fellow citizens. Rather should we expect to see him depart in open day, surrounded by multitudes of the populace mingling tears of regret with wishes for his health and safety. It will occur to the judicious observer that in the manner of his departure he confirms the condemnation which has been uttered against him.

Significant, too, are the activities of our naval forces at Bluefields—those forces which were represented as sent thither for wanton intervention and wicked oppression. What are they actually doing? They are raising the banner of the Red Cross and devoting all their energies and means to feeding the starving, to healing the sick and to ministering in all ways to all who are in distress, Zelayans and Estradans alike. Instead of the sword they bear bread; instead of bullets, medicines; instead of erecting fortifications they are opening hospitals and eating houses. Is that the sort of procedure which is bound to fill all Latin America with suspicion and alienate it from the United States?

We have hitherto remarked upon the striking manner in which the progress and development of affairs are steadily vindicating, in general and in detail, the policy of our government in Nicaragua. To that vindication there [illegible] one [illegible]. But it is not in the least surprising that it should be so. As a policy like ours, entirely disinterested, seeking no selfish advantage, with no ulterior motives, aiming only at those ends of peace, stability, integrity and good government, which are for the good of the states themselves even more than for the comfort of their neighbors such a policy, if consistently maintained, cannot fail to be vindicated, for it is simply the fulfillment of one or the paramount duties of civilization.

UNCLE WALT THE POET PHILOSOPHER

WHERE THE SUNFLOWER GROWS

Sad Russia's poor, and gaunt, and bare, that should be vastly rich; and evermore is stalking there the ghost of wantovitch; the discontented nobles fret, the monarch has a pain, the weary peasants toil and sweat, and sweat and toil in vain. And Russia still at progress sneers, greets freedom with a scoff, while shedding weak and futile tears of griefovitchokoff. The tsar is trembling at his meals and hardly dares to hope that his sardines and soup and eels contain no knock-out dope. The statesmen carry guns and knives; the plumber makes their shirts; and husbands tremble lest their wives hide razors in their skirts. There Terror holds its ghastly sway, and Quiet never comes, and bombs are busted every day by scores of busted bums. Uneasy as a man who sighs beneath a dose of itch, poor Russia walks the floor and cries, in sadfessowskivitch. In this she violates no rules, nor from the record roams; 'tis always thus, where Terror rules, in nations or in homes. Some guy may say that Russia, dead, on earth would never be missed, then fill his humble home with dread, and fear and sorrowquist.

The Daily Chit-Chat

I wish people nowadays were less afraid of bare facts and more afraid of allusions.

There is nothing either indecent or amusing in the great facts of life. But by circling mysteriously around them, approaching and retreating, lifting the veil and then dropping it and running away, as if there were something to be afraid of or laughing, as if there were something funny in our antics, we create the illusion of indecency and amusement.

We are like children playing peek-a-boo. We peek behind our self-erected screen and then laugh, not because we see anything funny, but just at our own antics.

The indecency and the humor are not in the things themselves, but in our way of hiding them and then going and taking forbidden peeks at what we have hidden.

A perfectly naked body is not half so immodest as a half-draped body shrinking and trying to hide behind its draperies.

I once attended the performance of Isadora Duncan, the great classic dancer.

Miss Duncan, as one critic expresses it "dances with limbs bare and uncorseted body, draped only with blowing gauze, which reveals when she moves every exquisite emotion she has trained herself to portray."

The chorus of the light opera that I saw the next evening wore a great many more clothes than she did but they were far less modest.

One of the professors where I went to college used to tell his classes that there was a vast difference between nudeness and nakedness.

Nudeness, he said, was unconscious and unabashed, while nakedness was conscious and ashamed. The beautiful Greek statues, with absolutely no draperies, he explained, were nude while many of the later works of art although partially draped, were naked.

In the same way it seemed to me that Isadora Duncan, with her scant draperies, was less naked than the more extensively clothed, but more suggestive, ballet dancers. And in the same way it seems to me that a frankly faced fact is far more decent than an allusion however carefully clothed.

I would infinitely rather a young daughter of mine went to a play in which the facts of sex were dealt with frankly and fearlessly, than to a play or light opera filled with gracefully worded allusions.

I would rather she read the novel that has paragraphs in it that polite society would shudder at than the book that touches things more gracefully and lightly but leaves one laughing at sin.

As a newspaper woman I have sometimes been obliged to discuss with men facts and situations that are not usually the subject of conversation between sexes. But if the men looked me in the eye and spoke simply and frankly I did not mind.

It was far, far worse to me if a man who did not understand me made some suggestive allusion.

I wish the mothers of the present day would teach their daughters to dislike nothing so much as allusions however amusing, to frown on nothing so much as suggestiveness however carefully worded, and to shun nothing so much as this silly peek-a-boo laughter at things that faced frankly, have nothing in them to laugh at.

I fancy if mothers would cultivate such an attitude they would find they had created a better guard for their daughters' morals than any chaperonage or watchfulness, however careful, could possibly be.

A committee consisting of C. D. Taylor, T. J. Herndon, Mayor T. D. Armstrong, George F. Geiger and James Greenlee has been appointed by President John B. Stephen of the chamber of commerce to consider plans for a welcome arch for the intersection of Colorado and Sheldon avenues. A design has been submitted which will not cost over $700 and definite action will be taken in regards to this next week. The arch is to be decorated with incandescent lights and will bear two legends, on one side, "Welcome to Colorado City" and a suitable one for the leaving of the city on the reverse side.

A free information bureau, which will contain all the real estate, railroad, mining and civic literature will be established as soon as the table arrives. It is planned to appoint a committee to make preparations for the publication of a booklet telling all about the city.

BRENNEN BOUND OVER TO DISTRICT COURT.

James Brennen, who was arrested Tuesday charged with the robbery of a watch valued at $25 from Dr. A. G. Baker, of Colorado Springs, was given a hearing in Justice B. F. Irving's court yesterday, and was bound over to the district court. Brennen claimed that the party of men and himself were intoxicated in a saloon on Colorado avenue, and that after he had gone out on the street he found the watch in his pocket. The next morning he took the timepiece to a pawnbroker who told him its value. He did not sell the watch and was found shortly after by Chief of Police Taws with it in his possession. Brennen says the watch was put in his pocket as a joke, but Justice Irvin could not see it that way and Brennen was sent back to the county jail, on failure to get bond.

NEW THEORY IS RAPIDLY SPREADING OVER COUNTRY

L. T. Cooper's theory concerning the human stomach, which he claims to prove, with his new medicine, is being given more respect and comment every day.

Cooper claims that 90 per cent of all ill health is due to stomach trouble. When interviewed about his theory recently, he said: "Stomach trouble is the great curse of the twentieth century so far as the civilized races are concerned. Practically all of the chronic ill health of this generation is caused by abnormal stomache conditions. In earlier days when the human race was closer to nature and men and women worked all day out of doors, digging their frugal existence from the soil, the tired, dopey, half-sick people that are now so common did not exist.

To be sure, there was ... in those days, but it was of a virulent character, and only temporary. There was none of this half sick ... all the time with which so many are afflicted nowadays.

"I know positively that every bit of this chronic ill health is caused by stomach trouble. The human stomach in civilised people today is degenerate. It lacks tone and strength. This weakness has gradually come through a sedentary existence. I further know that few people can be sick with the digestive apparatus in perfect shape. The sole reason for my success is because my New Discovery medicine tones the stomach up to required strength in about six weeks time. That is why I have had more people come and thank me wherever I have gone to introduce my medicine than I have had time to talk with.

Among the immense numbers of people who are now strong believers in Cooper's theory and medicine is Mrs. M. B. Delano, a prominent resident of the suburb of Brookline, Boston, Mass. She says: "For several years I was broken in health, caused primarily by stomach and nerve troubles. I gradually became worse until recently I was compelled to go without solid food for days at a time. I had sour stomach, irritation of the nerves of stomach, heart dyspepsia and extreme nervousness. I suffered terribly with insomnia and my liver, bowels and whole system gradually became deranged. I obtained relief the first day I began this Cooper medicine. I now feel like a new being. Today I walked all over Boston shopping, something I have not done for years.

I make this statement wholly from a sense of duty. I feel I owe it to anyone who might find relief and renewed happiness as I have done."

Cooper's New Discovery is sold by all druggists. If your druggist cannot supply you, we will forward you the name of a druggist in your city who will. Don't accept "something just as good."—The Cooper Medicine Co., Dayton, Ohio.

What the Press Agents Say

"THE SHEPHERD KING."

"The Shepherd King" is a handsomely staged spectacle, with a foundation in the romantic story of David, the shepherd lad who sung his way to favor and clinched his position with a slingshot. There is a sufficient appeal in this romance to interest audiences, and it is staged with every effort to treat reverently the subject matter and the biblical characters introduced.

"The Shepherd King" in which Lorimer will be seen at the Opera House next week tells the story of David and Saul and lends itself readily to dramatic treatment, the climaxes in the stirring life of the psalmist occurring at just the right periods for the stage effect. In making the present dramatization of the honored and noble theme the author of "The Shepherd King" has chosen to show David at the commencement and apex of his career. He is first shown as the shepherd lad on the Judea hills, then as the youth who saved his king from humiliation and his country from ruin by destroying the giant Goliath, then as the triumphant soldier of Saul, but the hated rival of the latter in the favor of the multitudes, and lastly as the crowned king of Isreal.

"THE LAND OF NOD."

What will no doubt be one of the brightest spots on the theatrical calendar this season is Samuel E. Rork's brilliant musical extravaganza, "The Land of Nod," which comes to the Opera House next week. This dainty, fantastic musical play made one of the distinct hits here last season, and with the assurance that we are to get the same big company as last season, it is sure to be greeted with capacity business. Neil McNeil and Anna McNabb are two prominent members of this season's cast and will be favorably remembered for their excellent work in "The Red Mill" last year.

"KING DODO."

King Dodo, that feast of musical fancies which is considered by thousands of show-shoppers to be the greatest of all comedy operas, will be the attraction at the Opera House tomorrow matinee and night.

It is safe to say that few entertainments of like nature have enjoyed the remarkable financial success that has fallen to the lot of this merry mingling of mirth and melody by Pixley and Luders. One solid year divided between Daly's theater, New York, the Tremont theater, Boston and the Studebaker theater, Chicago is only one of the many records it has made.

"King Dodo" this season will be seen in an entirely new dress. The scenery, costumes and effects are said to be even more elaborate than in the original production. John Cort has spared no expense in endeavoring to make this the grandest "King" of all. Charles H. Jones, who staged the original, was specially engaged for this production.

The company which Mr. Cort has selected is said to be superior in many respects to any that has appeared heretofore in the opera. Assuredly much is to be expected from such notable singers and comedians as he has engaged.

Seats now selling for both performances.

JOHN BERGAMASCO A WONDERFUL SINGER.

That John Bergamasco is a wonderful singer is the opinion of all who have been fortunate enough to hear this famous Italian baritone at the Majestic this week. Mr. Bergamasco has a voice of amazing power, wide range and with a resonant quality such as few possess. He sings in costume, his selections being from Italian opera, with a popular ballad as a closing diversion, and the effect is added to by his appearance in costume and his dramatic interpretation. Men singers ordinarily do not move the average vaudeville audience greatly here or anywhere else, but Mr. Bergamasco is an exception, the beautiful clearness and ringing vibrancy of his notes winning him at every performance a warm display of appreciation. From the standpoint of musical perfection no act in vaudeville today is more enjoyable.

WRIGHT LORIMER AS DAVID,

Little Lessons in Publicity No. 9

If Street Car signs could be set up in everyone's home every day, it would be read by a great many people, but many would resent the intrusion.

"SHORTY" ON TRIAL

Well-Known Character Held by Police on Familiar Charge of Intoxication.

With visions of a 100-day sentence on the rock pile disturbing his alcoholised brain, "Shorty" King, king of the local corps of drunks and hoboes, has spent the last two nights in the city jail. He was too drunk to be arraigned yesterday morning and will have a trial today.

"I'd serve a term of 36 days gladly to get one drink," said "Shorty" last night. "Water doesn't agree with me. Still, if I can't have a drink, could you give me a match and the makin's?"

Well educated and a member of a good family, "Shorty" has been on the toboggan so long that he is near the bottom. On several instances he has received sentences of 100 days for persistent drunkenness. On one occasion he served 300 days straight. One of his most laughable experiences occurred some time ago. In order to get a good Christmas day dinner, he imbibed too freely on Christmas eve and was arrested. When arraigned in police court, to his disgust, the magistrate discharged him, and his hopes of a Christmas feed went glimmering.

OUTWIT THEIR FRIENDS

Maurice Whitkind and Miss Mullin Secretly Wed at Canon City January 26.

Maurice Whitkind, business manager of the Cragmor sanitarium and Miss Alice Mullin, head nurse, were secretly married in Canon City last Wednesday. The simultaneous disappearance of both, Mr. Whitkind declaring that he was going to Kansas City in an automobile, and Miss Mullin leaving ostensibly for a visit to Denver, led to suspicion among their friends and after an investigation it was discovered that they had been married in Canon City. Mr. Whitkind owned, up to the marriage yesterday. The trip to Canon City and back was made by automobile.

The marriage was performed by the Rev. Mr. Hatchet, pastor of the Baptist church. Mr. Whitkind has been business manager of the Cragmor sanitarium for three years and Miss Mullin was formerly a nurse at the Glockner sanitarium.

This is the Flag Peary Nailed to the Pole

The most significant trophy of modern times. It has waved at the apex of the earth, where a day and a night are a year, and every direction is south. No battle flag was ever planted in the enemy's stronghold after struggles as severe as those which carried this banner to the goal. It is the Star Spangled symbol of courage and endurance and faith beyond comparison. It is the emblem of man's conquest over every obstacle, the triumph of spirit over matter.

We have reproduced this priceless trophy in facsimile in colors on the cover of the February number of HAMPTON'S MAGAZINE. You should preserve this reproduction among your most treasured possessions.

Read Peary's Own Story. Now appearing exclusively in HAMPTON'S MAGAZINE. Every instalment is complete in itself. In the February number Peary tells about selecting the Eskimos for his last expedition, and describes their life and their strange customs; what they have meant to him, and what he has meant to them.

MARY M'KINNEY MINES SHIPPING REGULARLY

Output of Main Vein in January Yielded Gross Bullion Value of $18,125.

Special to The Gazette

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb 3—The Western Investment company operating the main shaft and workings of the Mary McKinney Mining company, on the Republic claim made production of 26 tons during January with a gross bullion value of $18,125 This ore was chiefly mined from the main Mary McKinney vein, northeast of the shaft, at the bottom of 650-foot level

Shipments were also made during the month from the Howard shaft on the Mary McKinney, on Gold hill, and the Prassler and Burch shafts on Raven hill, located about the center of the two adjoining claims.

Ore was also shipped by lessees of the Mary McKinney company from the tunnel workings on the old Anaconda company holdings now part of the Mary McKinney estate.

Gold Dollar Operations.

Three sets of lessees, operating on the Gold Dollar Consolidated Mining company's estate, on Beacon hill were shipping today, and two other sets of lessees on the south end and tunnel workings are mining a good grade of ore

The Union Leasing company while shipping from the upper levels of the Husted shaft, has resumed sinking and will carry the shaft 100 feet deeper, according to the lease conditions. No mining will be done below the present deepest level of 650 feet by the leasing company, as the ground is reserved by the Gold Dollar company

Shipment From Silver Tip.

A 30-ton shipment was loaded out by team today from the Silver Tip mine, on Bull hill, owned by the United Gold Mines company, and operated under lease by Fred Schlesinger of this city and lease associates The lessees are mining the ore from above the 250-foot level and the present shipment is estimated at about $25 to $30 grade.

Goes to Lake George.

L. G Henry the well-known lease operator of this city, left yesterday for the Lake George mining district, in Park county where he has large interests Recent reports from that section are encouraging and it is said that Colorado Springs parties owning mining properties adjoining those of the Cripple Creek miner are considering the construction of a milling plant for the local treatment of the district's ores If this proves to be correct, Henry will send a force of miners from this district to develop the ore bodies exposed in the present shallow workings on his properties

Old Gold Report.

A circular letter mailed shareholders of the Old Gold Mines company from the office of Secretary-Treasurer Warwick M. Downing, in Denver, shows the receipts from 1909 from ore sales made by lessees on the Old Gold mine on Beacon hill to have amounted to $12 788.57 Of this sum, $8,631 73 was paid out for taxes and other current expenses leaving a cash balance on hand on December 31 1909 of $10,156 84. The gross production of the mine to January 1, 1910, is reported at $17,378.55

WHEAT PRICES SAG; CORN AND OATS FIRM

Trading in Moderate Volume With Narrow Fluctuations Hogs and Cattle Lower.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3—Wheat was generally easier today, fluctuating freely to a close a shade to 1-4c lower than yesterday. Corn and oats were much firmer than wheat at any stage and closed at a mild advance Provisions weakened materially under the influence of lower prices of live hogs.

Bearish influences from various sources contributed to weaken wheat, the net decline being from a shade to 1-4c. The fluctuations were from 1-3 to 1c. May covering all fractional points between 1.09 3-8 and 1.10 3-8. At the close May stood at 1 10 1-4, 1-8@1-4c lower

New demand for corn kept prices generally firm in spite of the weakness in the wheat market Offerings were absorbed on all the weak spots and fluctuations varied from 3-8 to 1-2. May advanced during the day to 66 7-8, 1-4c higher than yesterday's close after a decline to 11 3-8. The volume of trade was moderate and at the close May sold at 66 3-8 1-8c higher than the final prices yesterday

Oats followed the course of corn and successfully resisted the weakening influence of the wheat pit. May early in the day fell off to 46 3-8 and later climbed to 46 3-4 The close was firm with May 46 5-8@3-4, 1-8c higher

In provisions pork fell 30c below yesterday's closing prices, other futures declining to a less extent

STOCK MARKET FLOODED WITH SELLING ORDERS

Day's Dealings Aggregate 1,673,000 Shares and Heavy Inroads Are Made in Values

NEW YORK, Feb. 3—Aggregate dealings for the day of 1,673,000 shares and inroads on prices of 1 to 8 points for practically all the active stocks offer evidence of a liquidation in the stock market sufficiently drastic and embracing to call for some other explanation than temporary vagaries of speculative sentiment or merely technical conditions in the stock market itself.

That all is not well with the body economic or with finance and industry as was assumed when prices of stocks were 10 to 40 points higher than were touched on the declines today is borne in upon the mind with conviction

The opinion that overlays practically all others and tinged the whole was that commercial recession and industrial reaction were to be read in the action of the securities market This opinion has been gathering adherents for several weeks It began with evidence of a lull in the freight movement over the railroads with some renewed accumulations of surplus freight cars and gained force with reports of the falling off in orders for iron and decline in the price of that basic commodity

Another factor was the authority given to views publicly stated by qualified legal testimony supposed to represent the views of large organizations of capital of the harm to follow from the proposed enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust law The word 'panic' found frequent repetition in these various pictures of the future and the effect was decidedly disturbing to the nerves of the stock market element There was the fear that with the arrest of the upward course of prices of commodities there would necessarily follow a process of deflation which would arrest the course of prosperous activities all through the channels of commerce

This week's failure of an important firm of dealers in bonds was the text also for unfavorable views. There grew up a supposition that the cleaning up of credits now in progress might originate as far back as the panic of 1907 This supposition applied to accounts carried through the stressful period of 1907 and not cleared up since, but which were being pushed for settlement now with the prospect supposed to be waning in its promised brightness This condition was said to exist not only in portions of the banking world but in the mercantile and money credit position.

The market had an effective rally of 1½ to 3 points in the final hour and the closing tone was strong and well sustained at the recovery, but the inviting profits on the days' decline offered to the bears obviously supplied much of the inducement for buying.

Bonds were weak, but with no sign of the demoralized tone of stocks. Total sales, par value, $3,823,000. U. S. 2's declined 1-8 and the 4's 1-4 per cent on call.

SAUCE FOR THE GOOSE.

From the Chicago Record-Herald

He was engaging a new stenographer, and he bit off his words and hurled them at her in a way to frighten any ordinary girl out of her wits.

"Munch chocolates?" he asked.

"No, sir

"Talk slang?"

"No, sir"

"Make eyes at the fellows when you're not busy"

"No, sir"

"Know how to spell such words as 'cat' and 'dog' correctly?"

"Yes, sir."

"Gossip through the telephone half a dozen times a day?"

"No, sir"

"Usually tell the office staff how much the boss owns and all the rest of its private business you learn?"

"No, sir"

He was thinking of something else to ask her when she inserted a spoke in the wheel and put a few queries.

"Smoke cheap cigars when you're dictating?" she asked.

"Why—er—no," he gasped

"Take it out of the poor stenographer when you have had a row at home and come off worst?"

"Certainly no not"

"Throw things about and swear when business is bad?"

"N-never"

"Go for your employes when they get hung up on the elevated in the morning?"

"No, indeed"

"Think you know enough about grammar and punctuation to say were a good stenographer when you get one?"

"I—I think so"

"Want me to go to work or is your time worth so little that"—

"Look here" he broke in, enthusiastically, "kindly hang up your things and let's get at these letters

"Brass" stair carpet rods are not brass, but are rods of iron covered with very thin tubes of brass Much "copper" work is not copper at all, but coated iron. The part pure metals play in manufacture is nothing by comparison with their alloys in their many hundreds of combinations.

WE are pleased to state that our confidence in the purchasing power of the American people has not been misplaced. We advertised to sell $10 U. S. coins for $9, and the public bought them. This vindicates our position that people will buy without seeing. To satisfy the curiosity of the people who have read our unique advertisement of selling a few government coins at a 10 per cent discount we will say that a prominent R. E. agent of Colorado City made a wager that our firm could not make five sales in one day. We are pleased to say that we made the five sales and could easily have made 500 more. It simply demonstrates the public confidence in the firm of Kinsman & Wolff to do exactly as they advertise was in no way misplaced. The following parties purchased the coins and the sale was over so quickly that we did not realize how many people there was in Colorado City, Colorado Springs and Manitou who displayed their utmost confidence in receiving all they pay for. Those enumerated below paid their money, complied with the conditions of the advertisement and made $1.00 each:

I have this day received of Kinsman & Wolff one of the $10 gold pieces for nine silver dollars, as per their advertisement.
